(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Roosevelt today studied and then sent to the National Labor Relations board and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins the telegraphic appeal of Chicago steel strikers for presidential intervention.

The appeal, asking Mr. Roosevelt to "act at once to bring the strike to a peaceful end" was sent to the White House by representatives of 80 CIO locals.

No direct presidential action was contemplated apparently, and the reference of the appeal to the labor department and the NLRB was routine. However, the steel strike situation was regarded as tense enough to call for a personal scrutiny of the message by Mr. Roosevelt. White House officials pointed out that normally such messages and appeals are automatically referred. They added that the labor board and labor department were specifically charged with handling such disputes as that involved in the CIO strike against independent steel companies.

Wearing cap and gown, the solemn senior group filed into the auditorium in the traditional commencement manner with Principal Frank L. Orth and the class president, William Chip, at the head of the line. The seniors stepped slowly to the organ strains of the processional, "Tannhauser March" by Wagner.

Before the processional, the organist for the evening, A. Alfred Taylor, organist at the First U. P. church, had presented a brief organ concert. The organ sustituted for the orchestra.

The 296 seniors filled almost every seat of the large center section of the main floor before their march had ended.

Rev. Schnebly opened the program with the invocation and then the Senior choir, led by Prof Joseph F. Replogle, sang its first number. Lovely Appear from "The Redemption." The choir was on the platform.

The scripture lesson, the first Psalm, then was read by Rev. Schnebly and the scripture was followed by prayer.

An offering was lifted by the class to help defray the commencement expenses before the high school chorus sang its next number, "Steal Away."

Gladys MacKnight And Wightman Start Prison Terms

Taken From Jersey City To Prison At Trenton To Serve Long Terms

(International News Service)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 7.—Amid farewell shouts of fellow inmates of the county jail, Gladys MacKnight and Donald Wightman, youthful axe killers, today were whisked from Jersey City to the state prison at Trenton.

"So long Donald, take it easy, kid," and "Yoo hoo, Gladys, how about a date," followed the pair convicted of the hatchet murder of the girl's mother from the prison yard as the boy and girl sped away to begin serving 29 to 30 years sentences at hard labor.

From an upper tier of the jail a quartet of prisoners, a bit unfeelingly, began to sing "Happy Birthday to You," as the car containing Gladys roared out of the yard. This was in recognition of her birthday yesterday when Gladys turned 18.

The girl matricide sat rigidly between two matrons in the back seat, unsmiling and staring straight ahead.

Donald's car left the prison first. He was shackled to a deputy sheriff. The former choir boy grinned and waved a good-bye as handkerchiefs fluttered through the bars of the prison windows.

The boy and girl were not permitted to see each other before they left the county jail, nor did they meet at the prison. But neither expressed a wish to say good-bye. To the end each blamed the other for the slaying of Mrs. MacKnight in Bayonne last July 31.

Legislature Ends Session, Passing Mandate Program

Many Far-Reaching Measures Are Enacted By Democratic State Assembly

BUDGET REACHES RECORD FIGURE

Practically All Of Governor's Demands Are Met By Legislature

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 7.—Gov. George H. Earle's "mandate" program placing new emphasis on a state government's attitude toward its social economic structure was translated into written law today.

The 1937 general assembly, Democratic-controlled for the first time in 91 years, ended its 154-day legislative odyssey at 7:55 a. m. Sunday after enacting perhaps the most far-reaching legislation in the commonwealth's history.

Its accomplishment included approval of a revolutionary experiment for consolidation of relief and public assistance administration, sweeping labor legislation, drastically tightened liquor and banking laws, an unprecedented utility regulatory program, and the merger of the state police and highway patrol.

Greatest Spending Program.

At the same time the 132nd legislature launched the state on its greatest two-year spending program with the governor's budget reaching an all-time high of more than a half billion dollars.

Administration leaders, despite majority strength, were forced to battle for enactment of the complete program as outlined in the Democratic platform of 1934 and in the governor's biennial message at the opening of the session last January 5.

But an appraisal of the wide scope of legislation enacted showed that the governor received virtually what he asked for.

Much fell by the wayside, much was amended drastically as the session struggled to a close, yet admin-

"The parking meter selected is the least attractive in appearance.

"Other meters have superior mechanism.

"Another meter is 20 per cent less in price and is better mechanically.

General Strike Protests Arrest

Demonstration Is Made At Lansing, Michigan—Traffic Tied Up

(International News Service)

LANSING, Mich., June 7—A "general strike" called by the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union to protest against arrest of two women and six men pickets today turned large crowds of union workers in Michigan's state capital into the streets to stage demonstrations in front of the state capitol and city hall.

The demonstrators also completely tied up traffic in the downtown section of this city of 80,000 by parking their cars across street intersections or in the middle of thoroughfares.

Thirty-four buses owned by the city transportation system were immediately called off the street, and the capital was left without a public system of transportation.

A crowd of more than 5,000 unionists gathered in front of the city hall, while Lester Washburn, UAW local president, climbed to the roof of the building to address them.

Inside the jail, in a cell, was Washburn's wife, one of the women pickets arrested when they attempted to molest workers entering the plant of the Capital Wrecking company where a strike had been called two weeks ago.

MISSING SINCE LAST DECEMBER

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, June 7.—Still wrapped in their icy shrouds far beneath the wreck of their plane, seven victims of an airliner crash near here six months ago were being sought today in the deep mountain-side snow.

Bits of the plane, none larger than a seat cushion, were found yesterday near the crest of Long Peak, twenty-five miles south of here.

The discovery ended a search that had gone on almost incessantly since the luxury transport of Western Air Express vanished in the winter night of December 15.

Buried In Snow

Discoverers noted the wreckage lay in an area about twenty-five feet from the top of the mountain ridge and that only slightly more elevation would have saved the plane and its party of seven.

The bodies, it was found had been plunged deep in the snow and it may be several days before they are recovered, officials said. Those on board were:

Pilot S. J. Samson, 37, of Glendale, Calif.; Co-pilot William L. Bogen, also of Glendale; stewardess Gladys Witt and Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe of Chicago; H. N. Edwards of Minneapolis; and Carl Christopher of Dwight, Ill.

Tuesday Is First Registration Day For County Voters

Permanent Registration Of Boro And Township Voters To Start

ENROLLING OCCURS AT VOTING PLACES

Two Other Days For Registration Are July 6 And August 10

For the first time in their history, voters of the townships and boros will have an opportunity to register personally Tuesday, June 8. It will be the first of three such registration days named by the county commissioners in accordance with the recent act of General Assembly. The other two days will be July 6 and August 10.

Registrars have been appointed in all the 58 precincts of the county outside the city and these registrars will sit at the regular election polling places to register rural voters.

When the third registration day is over the only way in which a rural voter can register then will be by presenting himself at the office of the registration commission in the Lawrence county court house. In order to vote at the primary election on September 14, he must be registered before August 14.

Is Not Optional

Personal registration for rural voters is not an optional matter. It is the law and applies now to rural voters the same as it has applied to city voters for a number of years.

Previously a rural voter did not have to register, being registered by the assessor when his lands were assessed. In this fashion practically every eligible voter in the rural sections were registered, although the vote never showed any unusual totals over the city.

This has all been changed now. No citizen in a boro or township of Lawrence county can vote until he has registered personally.

The three days set by the county commissioners are for the convenience of the rural voter. When they are over he will not be given a similar opportunity to register. After that he must go to the court house to register or to record a change of party.

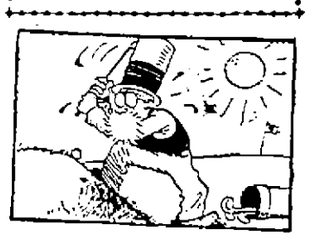

Three days have been assigned, June 8, which is tomorrow; also July 6 and August 10. It applies to every citizen over 21 years of age in every boro and in every one of the seventeen townships of Lawrence county.

Hurt In Accident Near Rose Point

John W. Logue, 609 West Penn street, Butler, sustained a whenched foot in an auto accident on the Butler-New Castle road near Rose Point at 5:30 p. m., Sunday.

Drennan S. Baxter, North Ray street, this city, started to back down the hill, according to the patrolman and there was a string of cars coming up the hill. In the third car was Logue and when the car of Gale Pitzer, 413 West avenue, was forced backward, his car struck that driven by Logue. In turn Logue's car struck that of Paul Frazer, 812 Butler avenue and Frazer's car struck that of Joseph Igow, Tarentum, according to the patrol.

If corn and spuds would only grow as fast as weeds and vagrant grass, if flowers would take heed and copy the antics of the weedy class. A garden then would be a pleasure, more so than it is even now, for then you'd get some chance for resting, if weeks would slow their growth I trow. But flowers grow an inch while ragweed springs up a foot and pulls away, I would that there was some plant magic for this, its eighty three today.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 7.—Amid farewell shouts of fellow inmates of the county jail, Gladys MacKnight and Donald Wightman, youthful axe killers, today were whisked from Jersey City to the state prison at Trenton.

"So long Donald, take it easy, kid," and "Yoo hoo, Gladys, how about a date," followed the pair convicted of the hatchet murder of the girl's mother from the prison yard as the boy and girl sped away to begin serving 29 to 30 years sentences at hard labor.

From an upper tier of the jail a quartet of prisoners, a bit unfeelingly, began to sing "Happy Birthday to You," as the car containing Gladys roared out of the yard. This was in recognition of her birthday yesterday when Gladys turned 18.

The girl matricide sat rigidly between two matrons in the back seat, unsmiling and staring straight ahead.

Donald's car left the prison first. He was shackled to a deputy sheriff. The former choir boy grinned and waved a good-bye as handkerchiefs fluttered through the bars of the prison windows.

The boy and girl were not permitted to see each other before they left the county jail, nor did they meet at the prison. But neither expressed a wish to say good-bye. To the end each blamed the other for the slaying of Mrs. MacKnight in Bayonne last July 31.

Legislature Ends Session, Passing Mandate Program

BUDGET REACHES RECORD FIGURE

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 7.—Gov. George H. Earle's "mandate" program placing new emphasis on a state government's attitude toward its social economic structure was translated into written law today.

The 1937 general assembly, Democratic-controlled for the first time in 91 years, ended its 154-day legislative odyssey at 7:55 a. m. Sunday after enacting perhaps the most far-reaching legislation in the commonwealth's history.

Its accomplishment included approval of a revolutionary experiment for consolidation of relief and public assistance administration, sweeping labor legislation, drastically tightened liquor and banking laws, an unprecedented utility regulatory program, and the merger of the state police and highway patrol.

Greatest Spending Program.

At the same time the 132nd legislature launched the state on its greatest two-year spending program with the governor's budget reaching an all-time high of more than a half billion dollars.

Administration leaders, despite majority strength, were forced to battle for enactment of the complete program as outlined in the Democratic platform of 1934 and in the governor's biennial message at the opening of the session last January 5.

But an appraisal of the wide scope of legislation enacted showed that the governor received virtually what he asked for.

Much fell by the wayside, much was amended drastically as the session struggled to a close, yet admin-

Butler Asks To Change His Vote

Councilmen Wants To Alter Position Of Parking Meter Purchase

NO ACTION TAKEN ON HIS REQUEST

During council session at the City building today, Councilman B. F. Butler's efforts to change his aye vote to a nay ballot in regard to the purchase of parking meters on trial proved futile. Although Councilman James L. Fink offered a motion to refer Butler's request to the city solicitor, the motion did not find a second.

Butler addressed council, stating: "I would like to have my vote on the parking meters changed to a negative ballot, for reasons as follows:

"The parking meter selected is the least attractive in appearance.

"It is not the least expensive.

"Other meters have superior mechanism.

"Another meter is 20 per cent less in price and is better mechanically.

"Visibility is important, and the meter selected is poor in this respect.

"It seems to me we hurried this a

General Strike Protests Arrest

Demonstration Is Made At Lansing, Michigan—Traffic Tied Up

(International News Service)

LANSING, Mich., June 7—A "general strike" called by the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union to protest against arrest of two women and six men pickets today turned large crowds of union workers in Michigan's state capital into the streets to stage demonstrations in front of the state capitol and city hall.

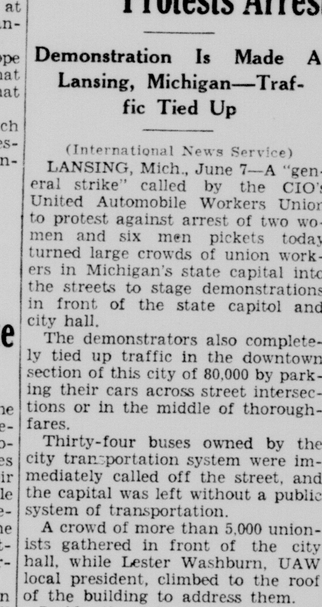

The demonstrators also completely tied up traffic in the downtown section of this city of 80,000 by parking their cars across street intersections or in the middle of thoroughfares.

Thirty-four buses owned by the city transportation system were immediately called off the street, and the capital was left without a public system of transportation.

A crowd of more than 5,000 unionists gathered in front of the city hall, while Lester Washburn, UAW local president, climbed to the roof of the building to address them.

Inside the jail, in a cell, was Washburn's wife, one of the women pickets arrested when they attempted to molest workers entering the plant of the Capital Wrecking company where a strike had been called two weeks ago.

(International News Service)

Dismissed as a result of the State police investigation, the governor announced, were H. H. Temple, chief engineer of the State Highways department, and E. A. Griffiths, former district No. 1 highways engineer, now at Clearfield.

"I am convinced Major Adams (Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of State police who conducted the inquiry) has submitted a most complete report, therefore I feel that those responsible for the conditions must be removed", Governor Earle declared.

Work will first commence in the quarry getting out stone for the renewal of the project. In about two weeks time it is hoped to start work on the erection of the administration unit which is partially completed.

MISSING SINCE LAST DECEMBER

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, June 7.—Still wrapped in their icy shrouds far beneath the wreck of their plane, seven victims of an airliner crash near here six months ago were being sought today in the deep mountainside snow.

Bits of the plane, none larger than a seat cushion, were found yesterday near the crest of Long Peak, twenty-five miles south of here.

The discovery ended a search that had gone on almost incessantly since the luxury transport of Western Air Express vanished in the winter night of December 15.

Buried In Snow

Discoverers noted the wreckage lay in an area about twenty-five feet from the top of the mountain ridge and that only slightly more elevation would have saved the plane and its party of seven.

The bodies, it was found had been plunged deep in the snow and it may be several days before they are recovered, officials said. Those on board were:

Pilot S. J. Samson, 37, of Glendale, Calif.; Co-pilot William L. Bogen, also of Glendale; stewardess Gladys Witt and Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe of Chicago; H. N. Edwards of Minneapolis; and Carl Christopher of Dwight, Ill.

Tuesday Is First Registration Day For County Voters

ENROLLING OCCURS AT VOTING PLACES

Two Other Days For Registration Are July 6 And August 10

For the first time in their history, voters of the townships and boros will have an opportunity to register personally Tuesday, June 8. It will be the first of three such registration days named by the county commissioners in accordance with the recent act of General Assembly. The other two days will be July 6 and August 10.

Registrars have been appointed in all the 58 precincts of the county outside the city and these registrars will sit at the regular election polling places to register rural voters.

When the third registration day is over the only way in which a rural voter can register then will be by presenting himself at the office of the registration commission in the Lawrence county court house. In order to vote at the primary election on September 14, he must be registered before August 14.

Is Not Optional

Personal registration for rural voters is not an optional matter. It is the law and applies now to rural voters the same as it has applied to city voters for a number of years.

Previously a rural voter did not have to register, being registered by the assessor when his lands were assessed. In this fashion practically every eligible voter in the rural sections were registered, although the vote never showed any unusual totals over the city.

This has all been changed now. No citizen in a boro or township of Lawrence county can vote until he has registered personally.

The three days set by the county commissioners are for the convenience of the rural voter. When they are over he will not be given a similar opportunity to register. After that he must go to the court house to register or to record a change of party.

Three days have been assigned, June 8, which is tomorrow; also July 6 and August 10. It applies to every citizen over 21 years of age in every boro and in every one of the seventeen townships of Lawrence county.

In turn Logue's car struck that of Paul Frazer, 812 Butler avenue and Frazer's car struck that of Joseph igow, Tarentum, according to the patrol.

If corn and spuds would only grow as fast as weeds and vagrant grass, if flowers would take heed and copy the antics of the weedy class. A garden then would be a pleasure, more so than it is even now, for then you'd get some chance for resting, if weeks would slow their growth I trow. But flowers grow an inch while ragweed springs up a foot and pulls away, I would that there was some plant magic for this, its eighty three today.

William J. Cole, 3, was killed when his father's milk truck in which he was sitting while his father made deliveries coasted down a Sheraden street, jumped a curbstone and overturned, pinning him beneath the wheel. The father had taken the child with him because the mother was away, attending a relative's funeral.

Joseph Griffith, 66, died from a fractured skull, suffered May 21 when struck by an automobile in Pittsburgh.

Newton B. Funk, 60, of Mt. Oliver was fatally injured when struck by a car while walking on a street in McKeesport. He died of a compound skull fracture.

Nine-year-old Albert R. Goglia, Jr., of Philadelphia was killed when his father's car collided with another automobile in nearby Swedesboro, N. J.

Few serious highway crashes were reported in the central Pennsylvania sector over the week-end. Some 500 automobiles were stalled or delayed on highways leading into Scranton late yesterday, however, by a cloudburst which turned roadways into rivers of mud.

PRESIDENT GETS APPEAL FOR END OF STEEL STRIKE

with picket lines firmly entrenched and company officials maintaining an uncompromising attitude.

"Your fight is won," Philip Murray, chairman of the CIO's steel workers organizing committee, told a rally of 5,000 strikers and sympathizers at Canton.

Murray said he had demanded of Gov. Martin L. Davey that Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of Republic Steel corporation, be arrested on a charge of harboring munitions in his plants. The CIO strike against Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and Inland Steel has thrown 80,000 or more men out of work.

Several volleys of shots were reported exchanged between strike pickets and a half dozen men said to have been attempting to enter one of the Republic rolling mills at Canton by wading a creek. A policeman fired a tear gas gun at a group of pickets gathered at the scene.

Strikers here watched for a reaction in official circles to the request telegraphed to President Roosevelt by 80 local unions in the Calumet district of Indiana asking the chief executive to intervene and end the strike. The appeal was telegraphed before a rally of more than 4,000 strikers got underway.

Two men were arrested near the Struthers plant of Youngstown Sheet & Tube after a rail was found torn from a railroad track switch. Police said one of the men was carrying a crow bar and the other a pipe wrench.

Another warning was delivered to Republic by John Stevenson, a CIO organizer, against bringing food into its plants for non-strikers. Stevenson said he would "not be responsible for what will happen" if further such attempts are made.

More than 5,000 mill workers have signed a petition asking civil authorities to disperse the picket lines so that men desiring to work could do so, it was claimed by Ed Gray, secretary of the independent union of Sheet & Tube company workers. This claim was ridiculed by CIO leaders.

Airplanes chartered by Republic Steel meanwhile resumed their shuttle service, carrying tons of food into the besieged plants. Workers numbering 1800 in the mill at Warren attended church services directed by two Protestant clergymen and a Catholic priest at improvised altars, according to Frank E. Flynn, plant manager. Police escorted the clerics through the picket lines.

Two court actions were listed for the coming week. An injunction suit filed by three railroads asking that strikers be prohibited from interfering with food shipments is scheduled to be heard in federal court at Cleveland on Thursday. CIO leaders have been directed to show cause Thursday at Warren why an injunction drastically curbing picketing should not be granted.

little, but to go along I voted favorably. I want permission to change this vote to "No", he told council.

Mayor Replies

Mayor Charles E. McGrath as president of the body, replied, saying:

"This brings up another matter—that of voting. Are you casting votes without thought?"

"I believe we have selected the wrong meter," Butler replied.

"This is a serious proposition," responded the mayor, pointing out that Butler's request had come several days after the vote was taken.

"I would like to see Mr. Butler's request to change his vote referred to the city solicitor," the mayor said.

"I intended to question the legality of a change in his vote," Councilman Rice declared.

"It is not a matter of changing his vote, but a matter of changing it legally," the mayor informed colleagues.

"I do not believe we selected the right meter," Butler declared.

"Time will tell whether or not we got the right one," Councilman Fink stated. The meters have been bought on trial.

Fink then said that he would offer a motion to have Mr. Butler's request to change his vote referred to the city solicitor.

"I think you will get into more trouble than anything else," Rice said to Butler.

"It is not only a question of 500 meters, but possibly 1,000 in the future," said Butler.

"The question in my mind is the question of procedure. I would like more information regarding the legality of voting," the mayor said.

Seek Decision

The city clerk, C. Ed. Brown, then said: "This is a question I would like to see settled."

The city clerk explained that it is the first time in his knowledge such a situation has arisen in council.

"This question applies to other matters," the mayor said to Butler, after which Rice said:

"What if council voted three to two on something and later one of the council changed his vote?"

The mayor then said to Butler: "You should do your thinking before you vote. There is a responsibility connected with it."

"We should have taken more time to do this. I voiced my objection at the time, but it was given no consideration. I did not want to argue with anyone," Butler explained.

Councilman Rice then said Butler should not have allowed anyone on the outside to have talked to him about the meters.

"I did not talk to anyone outside, and that is a mean suggestion," Butler retorted hotly to Rice, after which Rice said he did not mean his words to have the effect construed by Butler.

Mayor McGrath then told Butler that the reasons he cited for wanting to change his vote existed at the time the meters bid was awarded.

Fink expressed the opinion he was willing to present a motion asking the solicitor to rule on the legality of Butler's requested change in vote.

No one would second the motion, and council adjourned.

SWARM OF BEES MAKES HOME IN PARKED AUTO

parked the bees were clustered beneath the gasoline tank having discovered that the exhaust pipe was not a fit place for a "home".

When a News reporter investigated the situation this morning he saw the bees. They were clustered along the gasoline tank and swarming about the lot.

"This is not the first time bees have swarmed here" said Mrs. Miller. "Two years ago about a million of them swarmed into the lot and took up a residence on the same spot as the car now occupies. However, a man who had an apiary hived the bees."

In the meanwhile the bees are attempting to make honey on Ullrich's auto and the only fear that he has is that one of them may become incensed when he steps into his own car and may vent displeasure by stinging him.

Coal mines of Germany are being operated practically at capacity.

Nine CIO Leaders Given Jail Terms

Get Five Months And Fined $100 For Conspiracy In Recent Maine Strike

(International News Service)

AUBURN, Me., June 7. — Jail sentences of five months each, plus fines of $100 and one-ninth of court costs each, were meted out to nine CIO leaders by Judge Arthur Chapman today following their conviction of charges of conspiracy in connection with the strike of Maine shoe workers.

The jury which convicted them had deliberated for 10 hours.

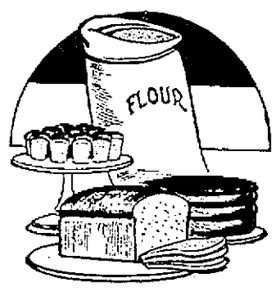

Judge Chapman set bail of $1,000 each pending appeal. While CIO counsel sought to raise the bail, the organizers were led back to the jail. One of those convicted was a woman.

Four of the men convicted are already serving six months sentences for contempt of court in violating an anti-strike injunction, along with Powers Hapgood, New England CIO secretary. They were not eligible to bail.

HEAVY TRAFFIC TAKES TOLL

Eight Killed Over Week End

Two Women And Two Young Children Included Among Those Meeting Death

HIGHWAYS JAMMED WITH AUTOMOBILES

(International News Service)

Sudden death came to eight persons on crowded Pennsylvania highways over the week-end, two women and two children being included among the traffic fatalities. Another died from injuries received earlier.

Charles W. McCoy, 62, of Trafford, died in Braddock hospital, his skull fractured when he was struck by an automobile.

William J. Cole, 3, was killed when his father's milk truck in which he was sitting while his father made deliveries coasted down a Sheraden street, jumped a curbstone and overturned, pinning him beneath the wheel. The father had taken the child with him because the mother was away, attending a relative's funeral.

Joseph Griffith, 66, died from a fractured skull, suffered May 21 when struck by an automobile in Pittsburgh.

Newton B. Funk, 60, of Mt. Oliver was fatally injured when struck by a car while walking on a street in McKeesport. He died of a compound skull fracture.

Clarence Byram, 20, of Douglasville and Miss Sarah Y. Gehr, 17, of Reading, were killed when their tandem motorcycle collided with an automobile near Reading. Miss Dorothy Hopsonns, 18, of Reading, a passenger in the car, was injured critically.

Nine-year-old Albert R. Goglia, Jr., of Philadelphia was killed when his father's car collided with another automobile in nearby Swedesboro, N. J.

Few serious highway crashes were reported in the central Pennsylvania sector over the week-end. Some 500 automobiles were stalled or delayed on highways leading into Scranton late yesterday, however, by a cloudburst which turned roadways into rivers of mud.

Mrs. Sara Golomb, 65, of Pittsburgh, died in a hospital after being struck by a car driven by another woman.

with picket lines firmly entrenched and company officials maintaining an uncompromising attitude.

"Your fight is won," Philip Murray, chairman of the CIO's steel workers organizing committee, told a rally of 5,000 strikers and sympathizers at Canton.

Murray said he had demanded of Gov. Martin L. Davey that Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of Republic Steel corporation, be arrested on a charge of harboring munitions in his plants. The CIO strike against Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and Inland Steel has thrown 80,000 or more men out of work.

Several volleys of shots were reported exchanged between strike pickets and a half dozen men said to have been attempting to enter one of the Republic rolling mills at Canton by wading a creek. A policeman fired a tear gas gun at a group of pickets gathered at the scene.

Strikers here watched for a reaction in official circles to the request telegraphed to President Roosevelt by 80 local unions in the Calumet district of Indiana asking the chief executive to intervene and end the strike. The appeal was telegraphed before a rally of more than 4,000 strikers got underway.

Two men were arrested near the Struthers plant of Youngstown Sheet & Tube after a rail was found torn from a railroad track switch. Police said one of the men was carrying a crow bar and the other a pipe wrench.

Another warning was delivered to Republic by John Stevenson, a CIO organizer, against bringing food into its plants for non-strikers. Stevenson said he would "not be responsible for what will happen" if further such attempts are made.

More than 5,000 mill workers have signed a petition asking civil authorities to disperse the picket lines so that men desiring to work could do so, it was claimed by Ed Gray, secretary of the independent union of Sheet & Tube company workers. This claim was ridiculed by CIO leaders.

Airplanes chartered by Republic Steel meanwhile resumed their shuttle service, carrying tons of food into the besieged plants. Workers numbering 1800 in the mill at Warren attended church services directed by two Protestant clergymen and a Catholic priest at improvised altars, according to Frank E. Flynn, plant manager. Police escorted the clerics through the picket lines.

Two court actions were listed for the coming week. An injunction suit filed by three railroads asking that strikers be prohibited from interfering with food shipments is scheduled to be heard in federal court at Cleveland on Thursday. CIO leaders have been directed to show cause Thursday at Warren why an injunction drastically curbing picketing should not be granted.

little, but to go along I voted favorably. I want permission to change this vote to "No", he told council.

Mayor Replies

Mayor Charles E. McGrath as president of the body, replied, saying:

"This brings up another matter—that of voting. Are you casting votes without thought?"

"I believe we have selected the wrong meter," Butler replied.

"This is a serious proposition," responded the mayor, pointing out that Butler's request had come several days after the vote was taken.

"I would like to see Mr. Butler's request to change his vote referred to the city solicitor," the mayor said.

"I intended to question the legality of a change in his vote," Councilman Rice declared.

"It is not a matter of changing his vote, but a matter of changing it legally," the mayor informed colleagues.

"I do not believe we selected the right meter," Butler declared.

"Time will tell whether or not we got the right one," Councilman Fink stated. The meters have been bought on trial.

Fink then said that he would offer a motion to have Mr. Butler's request to change his vote referred to the city solicitor.

"I think you will get into more trouble than anything else," Rice said to Butler.

"It is not only a question of 500 meters, but possibly 1,000 in the future," said Butler.

"The question in my mind is the question of procedure. I would like more information regarding the legality of voting," the mayor said.

Seek Decision

The city clerk, C. Ed. Brown, then said: "This is a question I would like to see settled."

The city clerk explained that it is the first time in his knowledge such a situation has arisen in council.

"This question applies to other matters," the mayor said to Butler, after which Rice said:

"What if council voted three to two on something and later one of the council changed his vote?"

The mayor then said to Butler: "You should do your thinking before you vote. There is a responsibility connected with it."

"We should have taken more time to do this. I voiced my objection at the time, but it was given no consideration. I did not want to argue with anyone," Butler explained.

Councilman Rice then said Butler should not have allowed anyone on the outside to have talked to him about the meters.

"I did not talk to anyone outside, and that is a mean suggestion," Butler retorted hotly to Rice, after which Rice said he did not mean his words to have the effect construed by Butler.

Mayor McGrath then told Butler that the reasons he cited for wanting to change his vote existed at the time the meters bid was awarded.

Fink expressed the opinion he was willing to present a motion asking the solicitor to rule on the legality of Butler's requested change in vote.

No one would second the motion, and council adjourned.

SWARM OF BEES MAKES HOME IN PARKED AUTO

parked the bees were clustered beneath the gasoline tank having discovered that the exhaust pipe was not a fit place for a "home".

When a News reporter investigated the situation this morning he saw the bees. They were clustered along the gasoline tank and swarming about the lot.

"This is not the first time bees have swarmed here" said Mrs. Miller. "Two years ago about a million of them swarmed into the lot and took up a residence on the same spot as the car now occupies. However, a man who had an apiary hived the bees."

In the meanwhile the bees are attempting to make honey on Ullrich's auto and the only fear that he has is that one of them may become incensed when he steps into his own car and may vent displeasure by stinging him.

FAITH

The Supreme Court has made it perfectly legal to work as little, and save as little as possible, as someone else will keep you when you get past working. We wonder where the money will come from to pay for this if everybody decided to do it.

This is in direct opposition to the principles practiced by our forefathers, who made it possible by hard work and savings to make the country we now enjoy a pleasant place to live in.

Miss Hazel Armstrong And E. H. Browning Wed In Church

Shortly before sunset Saturday afternoon, June 5, one of the prettiest of early June weddings took place in Epworth Methodist Episcopal church when Miss Hazel Armstrong, daughter of Mrs. Ethel L. Armstrong of Pearson street, became the bride of Eli H. Browning, son of Mrs. M. Browning of Cumberland, Md., in the presence of several hundred guests.

The altar, embanked with ferns, palms and standards of white flowers of the season, was enhanced by rays of the sun shining through the beautiful cathedral stained glass windows.

Contributing further to this picturesque setting were echoes of nuptial selections played by Mrs. Margaret Kamerer, organist. She accompanied Miss Kathryn Wagner, vocal soloist, who sang "All For You" and "O, Promise Me" preceding the approach of the bridal party.

Rev. H. L. McCurdy, pastor, officiated with the impressive single service, at 4:30 o'clock.

An unusual feature of the occasion was the use of the two ecru satin pillows in the ceremony, upon which the bride and groom knelt. They were used 25 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of this city, close friends of the bride's family.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Sheldon J. Armstrong, of Detroit, Mich., was attractive in her wedding gown of white net over satin, redingote style, made entrain, and the border appliqued with satin. The sleeves were long and the neckline was finished with a dainty Peter Pan collar. Her finger-tip veil which she herself designed, fell from a white turban to match, encrested with tiny orange blossoms in the front, tapering off with a matching velvet bow at the back. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies.

Mrs. Earl Miller, as matron of honor, was attired in poudre blue net over satin, patterned identical to that of the bride's, redingote fashion, with turban of blue, set off at the front with tiny blossoms, caught at the back with a bow of velvet of darker blue. Her accessories matched, and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium.

Little Patty Ann Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber, was flower girl, and she was attired in a coral organdy frock with hair ribbon to match. Her other accessories were white.

Earl Miller served the groom as best man.

During the ceremony the organist played softly, favorite selections and when the pledges were completed triumphant echoes of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were heard. A congratulatory period followed.

A beautifully appointed wedding dinner was served in the dining room of the church by one of the women's units, at tables attractively arranged for 25. A three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom, and guarded on either side by additional cakes in the shape of twin lambs, centered the brides' table. Flowers and tall lighted white tapers were used to carry out the all-white theme.

The couple left in the evening on a motor trip through the New England states, and upon their return they will reside at 302 Pearson street, this city. For traveling Mrs. Browning chose a beige crepe suite with dubonnet trimming. Her hat and other accessories matched.

The bride, a graduate of the New Castle high school, is employed in the offices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of this vicinity. The groom graduated from Cumberland high school and is associated with the Shenango Works of the Carnegie-Illinois corporation of this city.

Since the announcement of the engagement of the young couple, a number of showers and parties have been given in honor of the bride. She received an array of magnificent gifts from their hosts of friends, these being displayed in the dining room of her home. Flowers were used in profusion at the Armstrong residence, which were also gifts of friends.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Winter and Mrs. M. Browning, the latter mother of the groom, of Cumberland, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Weir and Mrs. Thelma Foley of Alliance, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rogers of Steubenville, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon J. Armstrong, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Jean Glenn of The News, and others from Columbus, O., and nearby points.

The registration book for the wedding guests was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Diller.

Rev. H. L. McCurdy, pastor, officiated with the impressive single service, at 4:30 o'clock.

An unusual feature of the occasion was the use of the two ecru satin pillows in the ceremony, upon which the bride and groom knelt. They were used 25 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of this city, close friends of the bride's family.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Sheldon J. Armstrong, of Detroit, Mich., was attractive in her wedding gown of white net over satin, redingote style, made entrain, and the border appliqued with satin. The sleeves were long and the neckline was finished with a dainty Peter Pan collar. Her finger-tip veil which she herself designed, fell from a white turban to match, encrested with tiny orange blossoms in the front, tapering off with a matching velvet bow at the back. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies.

Mrs. Earl Miller, as matron of honor, was attired in poudre blue net over satin, patterned identical to that of the bride's, redingote fashion, with turban of blue, set off at the front with tiny blossoms, caught at the back with a bow of velvet of darker blue. Her accessories matched, and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium.

Little Patty Ann Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber, was flower girl, and she was attired in a coral organdy frock with hair ribbon to match. Her other accessories were white.

Earl Miller served the groom as best man.

During the ceremony the organist played softly, favorite selections and when the pledges were completed triumphant echoes of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were heard. A congratulatory period foliowed.

A beautifully appointed wedding dinner was served in the dining room of the church by one of the women's units, at tables attractively arranged for 25. A three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom, and guarded on either side by additional cakes in the shape of twin lambs, centered the brides' table. Flowers and tall lighted white tapers were used to carry out the all-white theme.

The couple left in the evening on a motor trip through the New England states, and upon their return they will reside at 302 Pearson street, this city. For traveling Mrs. Browning chose a beige crepe suite with dubonnet trimming. Her hat and other accessories matched.

The bride, a graduate of the New Castle high school, is employed in the offices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of this vicinity. The groom graduated from Cumberland high school and is associated with the Shenango Works of the Carnegie-Illinois corporation of this city.

Since the announcement of the engagement of the young couple, a number of showers and parties have been given in honor of the bride. She received an array of magnificent gifts from their hosts of friends, these being displayed in the dining room of her home. Flowers were used in profusion at the Armstrong residence, which were also gifts of friends.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Winter and Mrs. M. Browning, the latter mother of the groom, of Cumberland, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Weir and Mrs. Thelma Foley of Alliance, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rogers of Steubenville, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon J. Armstrong, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Jean Glenn of The News, and others from Columbus, O., and nearby points.

The registration book for the wedding guests was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Diller.

DON'T LET BURGLARS KNOW YOUR VACATION PLANS

NOW that the first attack of spring fever has been followed by detailed preparations for the annual vacation, try to avoid telegraphing all the burglars in your vicinity that your home or apartment is going to be vacant for two or three weeks, while the family makes a pilgrimage to the mountains or the seashore, or wherever you are going this year. Such is the advice given today by police authorities and insurance executives.

Probably you'll indignantly declare that you don't know any burglars and even if you did, you wouldn't think of telling them your home was going to be unprotected for a fortnight or more. That's what you think—but listen for a moment to an expert.

"The average citizen rather prides himself on his shrewdness in guarding his family possessions and protecting them from marauders, and yet, though he would scoff at the fellow who buried his hard earned bankroll in a tin can in the backyard instead of putting his cash in a sound bank, he is apt to be equally foolish when planning to leave his home for an extended period.

"He locks the doors, makes sure the window catches are all latched and carefully pulls down the window shades to shield the interior of his home or apartment from prying eyes. Yet those drawn window shades are as good as a telegram to the vigilant eyes of the prowler seeking a likely spot for a raid. They fairly shriek that the people who dwell in that abode are away and that he is free to roam the premises unmolested and safe from surprise.

Asked specifically what precautions he would suggest to the citizen about to start on a vacation, the authority replied "provide substantial deadlocks for all doors—springlocks offer slight resistance to thieves. Install window fasteners of approved design—the sort that cannot be easily opened. Valuables should never be left in one's home when the family is to be absent for any long period. Don't draw window shades and thus advertise an empty house. Stop all deliveries of milk, newspapers, and ice during the period you expect to be away from home. Just before departing make a final check to see that all safety devices are functioning. Finally, notify the police of your departure and likewise of your return. Should a burglary or theft be discovered then or any other time the police should be notified at once."

COSTLY POLITICAL FAKING

Though not of major consequence, the demand of Representative Hobbs, of Alabama, that the Congressional Record be closed to extraneous matters, including speeches never delivered on the floors of senate and house, merits affirmative action.

It is estimated that at least $200,000 could be saved annually by this restrictive move. And a $200,000 economy is worth considering even at a time when federal expenditures are of astronomical proportions.

The game is, of course, for congressmen to impress the folks back home by means of "reprints" from the Record, even when the particular subject-matter has never seen the light of day until being published. But certainly the taxpayers should not be expected to finance this kind of cheap and hypocritical politics. There are too many legitimate and urgent ways in which the $200,000 could be used.

COMING HOME IN AN IRON LUNG

At a cost of $50,000 Frederick B. Snite, Jr., is being brought to his Chicago home from Peiping, China, where fourteen months ago he was stricken with infantile paralysis. Since that time he has been in bed with his body in an iron lung, a mechanical respirator operated by electric motors, without which he would instantly die.

Dwellers in more primitive civilizations, of ancient days or even now in some lands, might wonder that science goes to so much trouble and expense to conserve human life. There is surely an answer to cynicism in the zeal humanity's benefactors show in keeping even the poorest and humblest mortals alive. To the extent funds and equipment permit, every physician, every institution, strives to keep burning the spark of life so long as there is the faintest hope of recovery.

Mr. Snite is only twenty-six; there is a bare chance that if this iron lung does his breathing for him for months, perhaps years, it may eventually be removed and he may enjoy a normal life. It is a slim chance medical science is glad to take when facilities permit. Setting a money value on the life of an adult or an infant or even a person of ninety is impossible. Likewise it is not a human prerogative.

HUMANIZING WAR

News of the development in England of a movement to "humanize" the war in Spain is interesting in an academic way as a reflection of humane instincts and also of inability to appreciate the essential barbarity of warfare.

Considerations of realism make it necessary to assume a defeatist attitude with respect to the proposed effort to alter the character of war. Nothing can be done with a view to making war pleasant and agreeable and it is futile to attempt the change.

Fundamentally, war is a brutal business which gives free rein to the worst passions of man. It can be carried on efficiently and successfully only when there is a wholesale and ruthless destruction of human life and property.

There can be no hope of inducing the generals to pull their punches, to add a few refinements and to introduce the alien quality of mercy into their strategy and their tactics. War today is essentially the same as when it was waged by Attila the Hun, whose military instincts were primitive, but none the less sound as view by the highly trained scientists who command armies of the present day.

The primary purpose of war is destruction—human and material. Those who accomplish this purpose most effectively, whether through gas or liquid fire, high explosive or shrapnel, rifles or machine guns, starvation or disease, will always be the greatest generals.

Don't trust oratory. It never seems to do its best until it is working at something foolish.

But giving your life for others gets you no hero medal if you spend twenty hard years doing it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

VISITOR IN SCHOOL

It is my privilege to visit hundreds of classrooms each year. While conducting public forums for seven weeks, in connection with the U. S. office of education, in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, early last summer, I spent a profitable morning the Byroad elementary school of Upper Darby, a suburb of Philadelphia.

As I went from room to room with Miss Marguerite Tennis, the principal, I was delighted with her effectual ways of celebrating successes in her teachers. Always it was the teacher's achievement, not the principal's on display.

In the wood-working shop I met the teacher, who explained to me that the nature of the work there peculiarly enabled him to learn a great deal about the character traits of the boys, and to help them to improve in certain of them. He believes, as I do, that in the shop are wide opportunities to develop such character traits as precision and responsibility. Miss Tennis informed me with great pride that this man was very exacting of the boys, and had excellent influence over them. I wish shop teachers generally were more aware than they are of their rich opportunity to know their individual students and to do effective character education work with them.

For the first time I heard here choral verse speaking as low as the fifth grade. They even begin with the second grade. Brought from England, choral verse speaking was long limited to college, and later, to high school students. It has great possibilities in the grades, and how children like it! It is especially good for the child who ordinarily speaks indistinctly or stutters, and it cultivates lovely speaking voices in teachers as well as children.

Principal Tennis would have me conduct a forum with her fifth and sixth grade children, 135 of them. After my very brief talk, they began to ask me questions. Here are a few of them:

Children's Questions.

Is it right for a younger brother to fight with an older sister when she is forbidden to defend herself? Should parents ignore good papers and talk about the poor ones? What should a parent do when an older brother teases a younger member of the family? What should be done when brother and sister disagree and mother defends the son and father the daughter? Why are older children scolded for faults of younger ones? Someone throws rocks at you. What should you do? Should a boy help a girl or boy when others impose on him or her? Should parents punish children by taking away their allowance? Why do three children disagree when two of them can get along well? Should parents punish children for being in a fight? What should be done when mother punishes a child and grandma gives him sympathy and ice cream? When parents and grandparents disagree about children? Should parents ever use their hands on children to punish them? Is it fair to make a girl do a job her brother does not want to do? And the next question was asked by a little girl as she was leaving the room: My mother tells me to do one thing and my father tells me to do another. What should I do? And how would you have answered that one?

GRANDPA SYCAMORE'S GRACE

Perhaps you never knew anybody like Grandpa Sycamore, but if you ever see "You Can't Take It With You"—the play that won the Pulitzer prize this year—you'll surely be wishing you did know an old codger like him.

I can't imagine such a character in anything but an American play, but I can imagine him easily in this America of our . . . so easy and natural and friendly and wise, thinking what he says and saying what he thinks, but not getting too excited about anything that happens.

I can't think of anything pleasanter than to sit down at Grandpa Sycamore's table and hear him talk to God. Maybe you don't agree with everything he says, but just the same it's an enriching experience.

"Quiet, everybody, quiet! (says grandpa). Well, sir, we've been getting along pretty good for quite a while now, and we're certainly much obliged. Remember, all we ask is to just go along and be happy in our own sort of way. . . The world's not so crazy. . . It's the people in it. . . if they'd just relax there wouldn't be times like these. Life is kind of beautiful if you let it come to you. But the trouble is, people forget. I know I did. I was right in the thick of it . . fighting and scratching and clawing. Regular jungle. One day it just kind of struck me I wasn't having any fun. . . So I just relaxed. Thirty-five years ago

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:26. Sun rises tomorrow 4:31.

We heard a lady say she owns some lots in this vicinity but could not find them. There are no houses on the lots. Of course there is no thought that the lots were stolen. Sometimes houses are stolen.

A good way to keep out of trouble or getting killed or injured is to stay away from the places where trouble is. Some birds just have to rush in or bust—and many of them get busted at that.

MENTAL TELEPATHY PROVED

Through Dr. Alexis Carrel, noted scientist of the Rockefeller Institute, mental telepathy has received scientific recognition. Dr. Carrel says he has conducted experiments which prove that man has the power to project his thoughts into the minds of others. The experiments have not been described, but a complete explanation is promised.

That idea sprung in Harrisburg about taxing public official salaries in counties, cities and the state is a fine one. Why not make everybody pay taxes?

If you long to be back to the age of 25, drag out the old family album, take a look at yourself, then you will be satisfied with the mistakes time makes.

MEN BIGGEST CAT LOVERS

Perhaps it is because the men usually have to "wind the cat and put the cluck out" before going to bed each night that they are more fond of felines than women. Florence Brobeck, author of "The Cat on the Mat" thinks men's chivalry causes them to be kind and protecting to cats—alley, penthouse, lost, strayed or stolen—and that the self sufficiency of modern women may arouse men's sympathy for the animals.

Happy thought! The taxpayer will enjoy parting with his money if you let him pinch a board each time he lays down a dollar.

Scoff as we may at stories of being trapped by plants it is reported that a Virginian named Coppedge seeking to rescue a cow caught in a dense growth of wild grapevines in the Blue Ridge became entangled himself. He barely escaped with aid of his pocket knife.

Lute Hodges' boy who thinks a lot about things has got a sign on his fillin' station over at South Tibbetsville that reads: "TAXES COLLECTED HERE (We also sell gas and oil)."

Men talk shop but the women talk shoppin'.

It's because we weren't satisfied with the celluloid collar days that we had to worry about the price of bands.

The heirs of the people who were killed in the Hindenburg can collect only $5,750 damages from the owners of the ship. Thirty countries have an agreement that provides for just so much damages in cases of accidents and deaths. That looks to us like a far-seeing precaution.

Lion taming and public speaking seem the final tests of poise and courage till you try to fire somebody.

The Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania has ordered an investigation of the railroad passenger cars because they are not kept clean. Some of those passenger cars sure do make work for the dry cleaners after the customers ride in them.

We often wonder where the salesmen we see come from and where they go to. Great numbers of them call on folks every day. They must have made a boom in the portfolio business. We saw one carrying a pint in one not long ago.

Now we are promised unbreakable spectacles. Not even a poke in the eye will break 'em. This will be tough on the birds who wear spectacles just to keep people from swatting them. There is a law against hitting people who wear specks—that is while they are on them. Once in a while some bird takes them off just to get cracked in the peeper.

A good luck pin owned by Mrs. Mary Hancock of Maryland continually disappears and turns up again. On the occasion of its appearance it was returned with the laundry; the next time it was found in the vacuum cleaner and the third time it remained unaccounted for until the cook, preparing a chicken for dinner, found it in the fowl's gizzard.

NONE WILL DENY

"Really, I don't think the medical profession has done as much to relieve suffering as some others," said her husband.

"What, for instance?" asked the wife.

"Well, piano tuners."

HOW TO STAY MARRIED

A writer on the subject of happy marriages recently offered women this timely tip on how to stay married: "It is a woman's paramount joy to rule her husband through his heart and not over his will or intellect." And from another but similiar source we have the declaration that "the successful married woman in this country has to be a cross between a major general and a major dome, and look like the girl in a cigarette ad besides."

The only thing less talented in keeping a secret from a woman is an onion.

It has been suggested that a tax be put on trucks, buses and trailers to get enough money to build a road for their use. As things are going now on the roads, something will have to be done, and it is going to cost money. Railroads build their own roads and keep them up.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

By Francine Markel

DEAR MISS MARKEL—We live in a very tiny apartment. I am to be married soon and mother, dad and I have decided to have both the ceremony and the reception in a country club to which we belong. What arrangements should we make?— MIMI.

Answer—You, your father and mother should go together to the club and make all arrangements with the manager. You should hire a ballroom or a suite of rooms, according to your needs.

Be sure you check up on every detail, such as the awning at the door, the attendants you will need (stating the number of expected guests), your complete menu, the music and decorations.

The program for such an affair should be precisely the same as that of a home wedding . . . the arrangement of the room for the ceremony, receiving the guests serving of refreshments, etc., etc.

Information on arrangement of the room for the ceremony will be supplied if you will send to me a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Armament Race Is Costly.
Billions Spent In Few Years.
Discuss America's Attitude.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

ONE OF THE most interesting books to come to our desk in the last few weeks is "Billions for Defense", by William T. Stone and Ryllis Alexander Gaslin. It is one of the "Headline Books" published by the Foreign Policy association.

We have permission to quote and reproduce fully from it.

It challenges from the beginning, with:

"How much have the nations of the world spent for national defense during the past five years? Sixty governments spent nearly four billion dollars in 1932, five billion in 1934, eleven billion in 1936. A total of 32 billion dollars during just five years. And how much is 32 billion dollars? So much that you can't count it. It's enough to build 46 Panama Canals. It could replace the buildings of all American colleges and universities 14 times."

And —we add—it is spent on a non-reproducing product, a wealth destroyer rather than a wealth creator.

The writers of "Billions for Defense" continue:

"Or let us compare present-day expenditures for armament with what was spent before the World war. The year before that war the nations spent approximately two and a half billion dollars. Today the nations are spending four times as much as they did then, and are increasing their budgets at twice the rate. What is more, the standing armies are stronger by a million men than they were. And there are strange, amazingly powerful weapons, that were unknown to the men who marched off to war only 23 years ago."

WHO PAYS?

"Who pays for all this," the writers ask. "Why, the people, of course. And how does the government raise the money? First, by collecting taxes. Many kinds of taxes have been devised—on individual incomes, on profits from business, on luxuries, on tobacco, on theater tickets, even on food. In Germany Nazi leaders tell their people that they must prefer 'cannon to butter'. In Italy millions of men and women gave their wedding rings and their jewelry to the government to provide gold, to pay for the Ethiopian war.

"And secondly, these huge bills are paid with borrowed money on which the people must pay the interest for years to come. Not one of the great powers is now able to meet its expenses without borrowing. Great Britain recently startled the world by announcing a colossal rearmament program costing $7,500,000,000 over a period of five years. Unable to pay the full cost out of its normal budget, the British government is following the path of other countries by floating an armament loan.

"France has borrowed from its citizens to meet its budget ever since Hitler came to power in Germany in 1933. Italy borrowed millions of lira to meet the cost of its campaign in Ethiopia. And no one knows how much Germany has borrowed to carry out its gigantic rearmament programs."

SPENDING BORROWED MONEY

The writers add:

"The world has learned from bitter experience what it means to spend borrowed money for such purposes. For one thing, prices begin to rise. The spending of money for war materials creates an increased demand for iron, steel, copper, coal and other commodities. At first, perhaps, it is the prices of these articles only which go up. But later, as costs of production increase, other prices begin to rise, too.

"In the end, the price of practically everything which men and women need goes up.

"Meanwhile, their fixed salaries do not rise, and their savings which mean their insurance against a rainy day begin to disappear.

"When wage earners can no longer afford to pay high prices, the demand for goods stops abruptly and there is a crash in prices. Economists call this spiral of rising prices inflation. In the crash of 1929, millions of Americans learned what such a boom meant. In recent months economists have began to warn that the armament race is leading rapidly to another period

THE YANKEE METHOD

Well, Edward, the Duke of Windsor, and Mrs. Simpson are at liberty now to do as they please and newspaper men of the world are anxiously awaiting the news of their marriage. These same newspaper men are wondering whether or not the pair will ever have an heir and if they do and it is a boy, there will be a lot of politics wrapped up in that boy,—just another possible pretender to a throne, and what a first page story!

Speaking about the Duke of Windsor, there is a great deal of hub-bub, as to what to call him.—"Eddie," or "His Highness" or what, and all this recalls how Major-General Harry Gilchrist surmounted a

NEW YORK—Dizzy Dean reclines on an arnica table and gives his version of the National league versus Dean conflict: "Frick said to me, 'I know, Diz, I'm gonna look chicken-legged and I'm gonna be the sucker. But we gotta get together for the good of baseball.' That's all I wanted. I didn't wanna be no sucker. He didn't get me to sign anything, did he?"

NEW YORK—Charles A. Courtney, locksmith, returns to New York after picking the locks of six chests crammed with Spanish crown jewels and silver—by royal request: "I feel sure I can open any lock designed. If a lock can be opened with a key it can be picked open. Lock manufacturers and locksmiths have a constant battle. As soon as a lock appears, it is the job of a locksmith to find its weakness. But the manufacturers are still ahead of the crooks."

HOLLYWOOD — Lucrezia Bori, noted soprano, explains why she spends much of her time modeling: "It is a way of expressing myself as I felt somewhat lost when I retired from the operatic stage."

LOS ANGELES—John Montague, golf's "mystery man", tells why he doesn't enter tournaments; "There is no good reason why I should substitute tournament golf for the enjoyable afternoon foursome with good friends."

FISHING EXPERIENCE

This is what I'd like to know
Just why three of us could go
Fishing in a rowboat small
And one fellow catch them all?

Seen it happen many a day.
Three of us upon the bay
Fishing in the self-same spot,
One was lucky; two were not.

Bait the same; and hook and line
All identical with mine.
Yet one fellow of the three
Always lucky seemed to be.

How this happens I don't know.
All I'm saying is: It's so!
Maybe here's the reason why:
He was more expert than I.

Maybe while for bites I wished,
Asking luck to help, he fished!
Maybe held the bait just so
Fish could find it. I don't know.

DON'T LET BURGLARS KNOW YOUR VACATION PLANS

NOW that the first attack of spring fever has been followed by detailed preparations for the annual vacation, try to avoid telegraphing all the burglars in your vicinity that your home or apartment is going to be vacant for two or three weeks, while the family makes a pilgrimage to the mountains or the seashore, or wherever you are going this year. Such is the advice given today by police authorities and insurance executives.

Probably you'll indignantly declare that you don't know any burglars and even if you did, you wouldn't think of telling them your home was going to be unprotected for a fortnight or more. That's what you think—but listen for a moment to an expert.

"The average citizen rather prides himself on his shrewdness in guarding his family possessions and protecting them from marauders, and yet, though he would scoff at the fellow who buried his hard earned bankroll in a tin can in the backyard instead of putting his cash in a sound bank, he is apt to be equally foolish when planning to leave his home for an extended period.

"He locks the doors, makes sure the window catches are all latched and carefully pulls down the window shades to shield the interior of his home or apartment from prying eyes. Yet those drawn window shades are as good as a telegram to the vigilant eyes of the prowler seeking a likely spot for a raid. They fairly shriek that the people who dwell in that abode are away and that he is free to roam the premises unmolested and safe from surprise.

Asked specifically what precautions he would suggest to the citizen about to start on a vacation, the authority replied "provide substantial deadlocks for all doors—springlocks offer slight resistance to thieves. Install window fasteners of approved design—the sort that cannot be easily opened. Valuables should never be left in one's home when the family is to be absent for any long period. Don't draw window shades and thus advertise an empty house. Stop all deliveries of milk, newspapers, and ice during the period you expect to be away from home. Just before departing make a final check to see that all safety devices are functioning. Finally, notify the police of your departure and likewise of your return. Should a burglary or theft be discovered then or any other time the police should be notified at once."

COSTLY POLITICAL FAKING

Though not of major consequence, the demand of Representative Hobbs, of Alabama, that the Congressional Record be closed to extraneous matters, including speeches never delivered on the floors of senate and house, merits affimative action.

It is estimated that at least $200,000 could be saved annually by this restrictive move. And a $200,000 economy is worth considering even at a time when federal expenditures are of astronomical proportions.

The game is, of course, for congressmen to impress the folks back home by means of "reprints" from the Record, even when the particular subject-matter has never seen the light of day until being published. But certainly the taxpayers should not be expected to finance this kind of cheap and hypocritical politics. There are too many legitimate and urgent ways in which the $200,000 could be used.

COMING HOME IN AN IRON LUNG

At a cost of $50,000 Frederick B. Snite, Jr., is being brought to his Chicago home from Pelping, China, where fourteen months ago he was stricken with infantile paralysis. Since that time he has been in bed with his body in an iron lung, a mechanical respirator operated by electric motors, without which he would instantly die.

Dwellers in more primitive civilizations, of ancient days or even now in some lands, might wonder that science goes to so much trouble and expense to conserve human life. There is surely an answer to cynicism in the zeal humanity's benefactors show in keeping even the poorest and humblest mortals alive. To the extent funds and equipment permit, every physician, every institution, strives to keep burning the spark of life so long as there is the faintest hope of recovery.

Mr. Snite is only twenty-six; there is a bare chance that if this iron lung does his breathing for him for months, perhaps years, it may eventually be removed and he may enjoy a normal life. It is a slim chance medical science is glad to take when facilities permit. Setting a money value on the life of an adult or an infant or even a person of ninety is impossible. Likewise it is not a human prerogative.

HUMANIZING WAR

News of the development in England of a movement to "humanize" the war in Spain is interesting in an academic way as a reflection of humane instincts and also of inability to appreciate the essential barbarity of warfare.

Considerations of realism make it necessary to assume a defeatist attitude with respect to the proposed effort to alter the character of war. Nothing can be done with a view to making war pleasant and agreeable and it is futile to attempt the change.

Fundamentally, war is a brutal business which gives free rein to the worst passions of man. It can be carried on efficiently and successfully only when there is a wholesale and ruthless destruction of human life and property.

There can be no hope of inducing the generals to pull their punches, to add a few refinements and to introduce the alien quality of mercy into their strategy and their tactics. War today is essentially the same as when it was waged by Attila the Hun, whose military instincts were primitive, but none the less sound as view by the highly trained scientists who command armies of the present day.

The primary purpose of war is destruction—human and material. Those who accomplish this purpose most effectively, whether through gas or liquid fire, high explosive or shrapnel, rifles or machine guns, starvation or disease, will always be the greatest generals.

Don't trust oratory. It never seems to do its best until it is working at something foolish.

But giving your life for others gets you no hero medal if you spend twenty hard years doing it.

The Parent Problem

VISITOR IN SCHOOL

It is my privilege to visit hundreds of classrooms each year. While conducting public forums for seven weeks, in connection with the U. S. office of education, in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, early last summer, I spent a profitable morning the Byrond elementary school of Upper Darby, a suburb of Philadelphia.

As I went from room to room with Miss Marguerite Tennis, the principal, I was delighted with her effectual ways of celebrating successes in her teachers. Always it was the teacher's achievement, not the principal's on display.

In the wood-working shop I met the teacher, who explained to me that the nature of the work there peculiarly enabled him to learn a great deal about the character traits of the boys, and to help them to improve in certain of them. He believes, as I do, that in the shop are wide opportunities to develop such character traits as precision and responsibility. Miss Tennis informed me with great pride that this man was very exacting of the boys, and had excellent influence over them. I wish shop teachers generally were more aware than they are of their rich opportunity to know their individual students and to do effective character education work with them.

For the first time I heard here choral verse speaking as low as the fifth grade. They even begin with the second grade. Brought from England, choral verse speaking was long limited to college, and later, to high school students. It has great possibilities in the grades, and how children like it! It is especially good for the child who ordinarily speaks indistinctly or stutters, and it cultivates lovely speaking voices in teachers as well as children.

Principal Tennis would have me conduct a forum with her fifth and sixth grade children, 135 of them. After my very brief talk, they began to ask me questions. Here are a few of them:

Children's Questions.

Is it right for a younger brother to fight with an older sister when she is forbidden to defend herself? Should parents ignore good papers and talk about the poor ones? What should a paren do when an older brother teases a younger member of the family? What should be done when brother and sister disagree and mother defends the son and father the daughter? Why are older children scolded for faults of younger ones? Someone throws rocks at you. What should you do? Should a boy help a girl or boy when others impose on him or her? Should parents punish children by taking away their allowance? Why do three children disagree when two of them can get along well? Should parents punish children for being in a fight? What should be done when mother punishes a child and grandma gives him sympathy and ice cream? When parents and grandparents disagree about children? Should parents ever use their hands on children to punish them? Is it fair to make a girl do a job her brother does not want to do? And the next question was asked by a little girl as she was leaving the room: My mother tells me to do one thing and my father tells me to do another. What should I do? And how would you have answered that one?

Perhpas you never knew anybody like Grandpa Sycamore, but if you ever see "You Can't Take It With You"—the play that won the Pulitzer prize this year—you'll surely be wishing you did know an old codger like him.

I can't imagine such a character in anything but an American play, but I can imagine him easily in this America of our . . . so easy and natural and friendly and wise, thinking what he says and saying what he thinks, but not getting too excited about anything that happens.

I can't think of anything pleasanter than to sit down at Grandpa Sycamore's table and hear him talk to God. Maybe you don't agree with everything he says, but just the same it's an enriching experience.

Remember, all we ask is to just go along and be happy in our own sort of way. . . The world's not so crazy. . . It's the people in it. . . if they'd just relax there wouldn't be times like these. Life is kind of beautiful if you let it come to you. But the trouble is, people forget. I know I did. I was right in the thick of it . . fighting and scratching and clawing. Regular jungle. One day it just kind of struck me I wasn't having any fun. . . So I just relaxed. Thirty-five years ago

Through Dr. Alexis Carrel, noted scientist of the Rockefeller Institute, mental telepathy has received scientific recognition. MEN BIGGEST CAT LOVERS

Perhaps it is because the men usually have to "wind the cat and put the clock out" before going to bed each night that they are more fond of felines than women. Florence Brobeck, author of "The Cat on the Mat" thinks men's chivalry causes them to be kind and protecting to cats—alley, penthouse, lost, strayed or stolen—and that the self sufficiency of modern women may arouse men's sympathy for the animals.

By Francine Markel

DEAR MISS MARKEL—We live in a very tiny apartment. I am to be married soon and mother, dad and I have decided to have both the ceremony and the reception in a country club to which we belong. What arrangements should we make?— MIMI.

Answer—You, your father and mother should go together to the club and make all arrangements with the manager. You should hire a ballroom or a suite of rooms, according to your needs.

Be sure you check up on every detail, such as the awning at the door, the attendants you will need (stating the number of expected guests), your complete menu, the music and decorations.

The program for such an affair should be precisely the same as that of a home wedding . . . the arrangement of the room for the ceremony, receiving the guests serving of refreshments, etc., etc.

Information on arrangement of the room for the ceremony will be supplied if you will send to me a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

NEW YORK—Charles A. Courtney, locksmith, returns to New York after picking the locks of six chests crammed with Spanish crown jewels and silver—by royal request. "I feel sure I can open any lock designed. If a lock can be opened with a key it can be picked open. Lock manufacturers and locksmiths have a constant battle. As soon as a lock appears, it is the job of a locksmith to find its weakness. But the manufacturers are still ahead of the crooks."

HOLLYWOOD — Lucrezia Bori, noted soprano, explains why she spends much of her time modeling: "It is a way of expressing myself as I felt somewhat lost when I retired from the operatic stage."

LOS ANGELES—John Montague, golf's "mystery man", tells why he doesn't enter tournaments: "There is no good reason why I should substitute tournament golf for the enjoyable afternoon foursome with good friends."

Bible Thought For Today

Just Folks

FISHING EXPERIENCE

This is what I'd like to know
Just why three of us could go
Fishing in a rowboat small
And one fellow catch them all?

Seen it happen many a day,
Three of us upon the bay
Fishing in the self-same spot,
One was lucky; two were not.

Bait the same; and hook and line
All identical with mine.
Yet one fellow of the three
Always lucky seemed to be.

How this happens I don't know.
All I'm saying is: It's so!
Maybe here's the reason why:
He was more expert than I.

Maybe while for bites I wished,
Asking luck to help, he fished!
Maybe held the bait just so
Fish could find it. I don't know.

New Interest In Religion Is Seen

Reports Show Increased Attendance At Services In New York Churches

HEAD-WAITERS MAKE BIG MONEY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 7.—Diary: A joint postal card from Fanny Hurst and Bob and Madge Davis, whose paths had crossed in Florence, an outrageously ribald communique from Mickey Neilan and a note from my favorite drummer boy, Jack Powell, in London. So breakfasting on fried chicken Frank V. Jones air mailed from Kentucky.

O. O. McIntyre

At my desk but mostly gazing at the Chatham across the roofs, hoping to wave to Bill Corum, the duelist. And then to idle among the Madison avenue shops, meeting up with Aubrey Eads, who calls himself a rag merchant, and we sat awhile in the St. Regis quaffing a cowl of seltzer and lime.

To dinner at Papa Moneta's who told me of losing his money and almost his business during recent black days, but now back in stride. Then home and talking to Percy Crosby on his Virginia estate over the telephone, and listening to "Vox Pop," now one of my favorite wireless programs.

Books are being written and newspaper editorials are reflecting a sudden return to religion. And for some reason not accountable, save general world unrest, churchmen in the metropolitan area have noticed a sharp attendance increase, especially at morning services. The noon-day services at Trinity for brokers often overflows. Indeed the gain is general and no denomination has been neglected. In the apartment house where I live the doormen tell me there has been a steady rise in the neighborhood among those who "dress up and go to services." Rousseau once observed: "There never was a time when civilization was in need of a spiritual awakening that it did not arrive.

Serious minded movie goers are huffing and puffing over what they call the "after theatre high hats." They are those in evening clothes who go to such movie houses as Music Hall, the Capitol and Paramount after the play to kill off a little time before night clubs swing into high. It is declared they are not only noisy but poke fun at the screen players and otherwise spoil the picture for those who have come to enjoy and behave themselves. Several near altercations between the regulars and the interlopers have been stopped only by prompt action of ushers. It is a trifling thing, perhaps, in the life of the town but indicative of a snide brand of sportsmanship.

Personal nomination for the New York social world's most congenial couple—Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt.

The three better known headwaiters in town are probably Rene Black of the Waldorf, Gene of the Colony and Theodor Szarvas. Each of them knows the various graduations of society as perfectly as Cholly Knickerbocker. And thus are able to prevent the seating of some recent divorcee with her newest husband at a table adjoining her former husband and his newest flame. The wealthiest is Gene who is part owner of the Colony and has a vast palazzio with hunting grounds in Italy. Theodor, until he took a tumble in the market in 1929 was also well fixed. Theodore Titze, another celebrated headwaiter in his day, now conducts his own restaurant as does Bernard at The Mascotte.

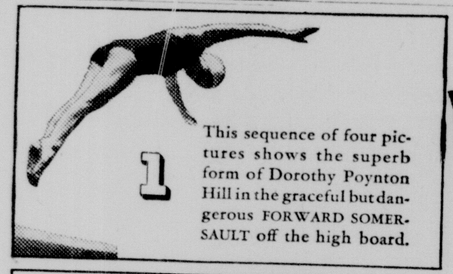

Often a columnist gets off innocently enough on the wrong foot. Recently, in what was an attempt to praise the flibberty-gibberty talk that constitutes much of the facetious art of the actress Mary Boland, I wrote something like this: "If Mary Boland talked that way off the stage she'd drive a person nuts." Evidently Miss Boland regarded it as a back-handed compliment, for she didn't wait to write; she telegraphed: "If you talk as you write you'd drive me nuts."

Bagatelles: J. P. Morgan likes to prowl around flower shops and never misses daily attendance at the flower show . . . Clyde Beatty, if the animals don't get him, expects to retire eventually to an Ohio farm . . . Sinclair Lewis likes to go to a strange city to write his novels . . . .Arthur Samuels was hauling off to publish a magazine this Fall when his backer died suddenly . . . George Gershwin is putting his savings into fine paintings . . . Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, was getting ready to give up his act when he was catapaulted into an amazing vogue . . . Jack Dempsey and his cafe backers are bowing coldly.

There is rough and ready bandinage in those sporty cafes off Broadway. In one the other evening an annoyed patron called out: "What do you have to do in this dump to get a glass of water?" And from a nearby booth someone replied: "Try setting yourself on fire!"

2 After a smart take-off (above), Dorothy uses the weight and position of her head to spin her body around. This shows her mid-air position.

of dangerous inflation. But military budgets continue to expand."

CAN WE STOP

But can the United States stop? The writers themselves wonder, for they say:

"It is clear . . . that our present armed forces are more than adequate for the defense of our own shores. It is also clear that our present armed forces are not nearly strong enough to support our policies or defend our interests in all parts of the world. . . .

"If we as a nation intend to follow a foreign policy with no 'entangling alliances', but designed to protect our trade, our 'rights' and other national interests, then we will need the largest army and navy in the world. . . . We will require strongly fortified naval bases in the Far East to assure command of the seas. We will not want to give up the Philippines, and we will need new air bases for powerful squadrons of bombing planes. We will also need a strong expeditionary force, and a huge fleet of transports to carry American troops to danger points. . . ."

"On the other hand, if we follow a Good Neighbor policy which does not attempt to support our national interests by armed force, then we would not require anywhere near so large a program for adequate defense. Such a policy would try first, to provide a decent standard of living within our own borders and avoid the pressure for bigger foreign markets. It would also try to remove some of the economic tensions which lead to conflict between nations. his policy would mean, however, that we would give up our traditional neutral 'rights' and would not protect American ships carrying war materials in war zones. It would also mean that we would not attempt to uphold the Open Door policy in China by force of arms, and that we would withdraw from the game of power politics in the Far East. . . ."

"Finally, there is a third foreign policy which is urged by many Americans today. Advocates of this policy ask whether any constructive international settlement is possible unless the powers which 'desire peace' are willing to act together to prevent aggression. . . A policy of isolation, they say, plays into the hands of dictators. We must, therefore, be prepared to uphold international treaties and support the rule of law in co-operation with other democratic nations.

"It is not easy to estimate the defense requirements of such a policy. If this means that we must be prepared to stop the march of dictatorship by armed force, then it is hard to see how there can be any limit to the forces required. The conflict would not be fought for limited objectives; it would be a 'totalitarian' struggle in an age of unlimited war. . . ."

Excess Rain Is Noted Last Month

Temperature Conditions Are Near Normal, Statistics For May Reveal

Precipitation during the month of May amounted to 5.11 inches, an excess of 1.73 inches above the normal being shown, the figures of U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson reveal. Temperature conditions were near the normal mark, but were nine-tenths of a degree below the average for the month.

The mean maximum temperature was 72.2 degrees, the mean minimum 45.6 degrees, and the mean or average, 58.6 degrees. The highest was 87 degrees on May 3, and the lowest was 31 degrees on May 11. The greatest daily range was 46 degrees on May 3.

With 5.11 inches of precipitation, the greatest fall in 24 hours was 1.20 inches on May 27. Dates with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 16, days clear 15, partly cloudy, 10, and cloudy, 6.

The normal temperature for May is 59.5 degrees. In May 1936, the temperature was seven-tenths of a degree over the normal, while the precipitation was 1.04 inches under the normal, which for May is 3.38 inches.

ticklish situation amid large gobs of royalty.

He was in command of a large troop outfit visited by Edward, then Prince of Wales. And later the King and Queen also came to visit the troops and to have lunch.

Edward, with his usual democracy, was out fraternizing with the men, when the time came to eat, and the King and Queen were growing impatient.

The orderlies were afraid to go and break up the animated conversation about guns and horses in which Edward was engaged with the troopers, so General Gilchrist took the job upon himself.

With military precision he marched up to the Prince and with American bluntness blurted out:

"Pardon me, Prince, but your Pa and Ma are here and they want to eat!"

What I'm trying to say is that I've had 35 years that nobody can take away from me, no matter what they do to the world. See? . . . Quiet, everybody, quiet! Well sir, here we are again. We want to say thanks once more for everything You've done for us. . . We've all got our health and as far as anything else is concerned, we'll leave it to You. Thank You."

And after that, Grandpa Sycamore went to work on his vittles and cleaned up his plate with a clean conscience and a hearty appetite. And if you don't think Grandpa Sycamore has the right idea about living—just relax, just relax, and you'll learn for yourself how wise he is.

Seeks Funds To Paint Schools In Bessemer

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7—Funds for a WPA project to paint two school buildings in Bessemer have been requested by Representative Charles Eckert, it was learned at his office today.

According to information supplied to Eckert by Bessemer school authorities approximately $5,000 will be required for the work.

The school painting project has already been approved by the district and State works progress administration office, and an allocation of funds is expected at an early date.

Bessemer school authorities wrote Eckert that early approval of the project in Washington is imperative in order to permit completion of the painting during the summer vacation period.

AROUND CITY HALL

Proprietors of several beer parlors in which dancing is permitted have conferred with Mayor Charles E. McGrath concerning his order to Chief of Police Ralph Criswell that the latter renew no licenses to dance unless the proprietors conferred with the mayor.

Promiscuous tooting of automobile horns by operators of cars in wedding processions is not liked by police officials and it would not be surprising if the police are instructed to order such operators before His Honor the Mayor. Some time ago the mayor put a ban on continuous horn tooting late at night or in the wee hours of the morning.

Sometime ago Attorney Charles Matthews, representing residents pointed out the dangers of traffic at Wallace Avenue and North Jefferson street and later Tom Boyles of The Castleton urged council to make some provision for caring for traffic at Falls and North Mercer streets. The North street and Neshannock avenue situation has also been discussed and it is believed that perhaps this year three new traffic lights may be installed to take care of these three corners.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Tipsters Cause Scribes Worry

Cause Writers Annoyance When Their Tales Prove To Be False

MANY ENGAGED IN PUBLICITY

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, June 7. — The Washington newspaper correspondents' corps has been in a ferment of late relative to the activities of a group of what the regular correspondents call "tipsters", engaged in the dissemination of "confidential information" (as the "tipsters" describe it) concerning capital affairs.

There are several kinds of folk engaged in the publicity business here:

1. Correspondents for honest-to-goodness newspapers, press associations, magazines or feature syndicates. These chaps (and some "lady reporters", too) accept responsibility for their "stuff" by signing it. Or, if it is published anonymously, their papers or agencies accept responsibility.

2. Press agents for particular interests, including the government's scores of public relations spokesmen. These boys are a convenience to straight newspapermen, for their "dope" is predigested. It must be taken with requisite seasonings of salt, but the reporter should be given credit for sense enough to put it in.

3. Independent "tipsters", who send individual letters (generally mimeographed) to comparatively a few clients, professing to keep them in touch with what REALLY is going on.

READS PAPERS MINUTELY

Some of these independents (classified as No. 3) are pretty good.

Frank Kent, the Baltimore Sunpapers celebrated columnist, took a severe fall out of them two or three years ago. He said that anyone, who reads the newspapers minutely, can know as much as any "special informant" knows.

That is true. But the "special informant" does read the newspapers minutely. His average client does not. Reading the newspaper minutely and drawing conclusions, is hard work. The so-called "tipster", who does it for his customers, and does it honestly and intelligently, earns his pay.

SOME ARE UNRELIABLE

However, there are some unreliable "tipsters", too.

Not that a sure-enough newspaperman does not occasionally commit a "faux pas", but he is readily identifiable when he does and it makes him plenty of trouble.

A "tipster" is not so easily called to account.

He captions his alleged news "Confidential", "Not for publication" or in some such fashion.

That is all right; anyone is entitled to put, within reason, whatever he likes into a private letter. That is not what the confidential "tipstep" is blamed for. The objection to him is that he wants to sit in the press gallery on Capitol Hill and attend "press conferences" at the White House and at the various cabinet and other governmental headquarters, as does an ordinary newspaperman; then telling possibly altogether inaccurate stories (under pledge of secrecy) concerning what he has heard and seen.

DO NOT REMAIN SECRET

Of course these yarns, as a matter of fact, do not remain secret very long. Subscribers to the "tipsters'" services leak them out. The regular correspondents' various home editors hear the yarns and call the correspondents on the long distance phone in the middle of the night to ask why they have permitted themselves to be "scooped" on situations that probably do not exist at all.

This is enough to make any correspondent angry.

The stories likewise get back to officialdom, which complains to the regular correspondents, "We receive you boys as trusted newspapermen, and here's a lot of hooey that you know blamed well isn't so." And maybe the correspondents do know it.

"Well, we didn't do it," say the correspondents. "Who did?" "We don't know; some of those darned 'tipsters' presumably." "Ah, but why do you let 'em in with you? Can't you purge your own outfit of irresponsible 'tipsterism'?"

AS STEWART SEES IT

This isn't so simple a question to answer.

A 100 per cent "tipster" can be barred from the congressional press gallery or the White House Correspondents' association by a demand for his genuine press credentials.

Yet there are newspapermen, who can so qualify, who do a bit of "tipstering", "on the side".

Furthermore, there are news syndicates which do a little "tipstering".

The present row arose over such a case. I think, personally, that a syndicate, ostensibly engaged in the business of selling news for publication, rather departed from its function in circulating a "hush-hush" piece of alleged information.

"HUSH-HUSHING"

But it is not the alleged INFORMATION that I take exception to.

The "hush-hush" part of it is what I believe was reprehensible. "Hush-hushing" isn't the dissemination of news.

I would not criticize the exclusion of a private investigator from a White House "press conference", for example. If he is after anything but public information, he ought to seek a private interview, if he can get it.

The remedy, however, is to keep him out; not to penalize him if he does, by the correspondents' dereliction, get in.

That is too much like censorship.

China Clipper Mail Received By Local Man

Letters Marking Each Of Clipper's Landings Received By E. M. Crawford

Four covers were received Saturday by Earnest Crawford, East Washington street, which were carried in the mail of the China Clipper on its history making flight of several weeks ago.

According to Crawford this now makes a total of 25 covers from this flight, he having one postmarked at each of the stops of the Clipper. Three more covers are needed to complete the set and are expectd to arrive within a few days.

This mail, having been flown by the Clipper, is postmarked at its point of destination and returned to the sender in the United States, via steamship.

Each of the envelopes carried a picture of the China Clipper in flight, and a marked map at the bottom showing the course of the ship.

Various postmarks and stamps from the country in which the postmark was applied also frank the face of the covers. The delay in receiving the covers in New Castle is due to the slowness of the steamships in returning them.

MONROE COUNTY BEAUTY

Do you know that Nature has lavished beauty on the mountains and valleys of Monroe county which is probably not surpassed anywhere else in the United States?

Probably nowhere in the entire United States are there such manifestations of decorative shrubs as exist in the Pocono mountains. From early spring, when the crocus bursts forth from its winter hibernation until the snow flies, Monroe county hills, valleys and mountains are one grand panoramic aboretum of unsurpassed beauty. Its flora and fauna run the entire gamut of northern mountain varieties—beautiful evergreens, acres of ferns under the overhanging forest growth. Columbine, laurel, rhododendron, azalias, and dogwood cover the hillsides and mountains with gorgeous blooms in season, and furnish beautiful, natural carpets of mountain green thruout the year. Countless varieties of wild mountain flowers abound everywhere. Nature lovers will find this a choice haven.

Dr. Spencer Speaks

New Wilmington, Pa., June 7.—Every piece of labor legislation now upon the statute books of the nation and the forty different states is based upon fear and a sense of insecurity," Dr. W. H. Spencer, Dean of the School of Businesss, University of Chicago, told members of the 1937 graduating class today.

This generation, Dr. Spencer said, must solve the problem of whether the organization of giant labor unions to struggle with giant corporate employers, matching large-scale organization against large-scale organization, is the way to industrial peace.

"You must carry with you three attitudes from college," Dr. Spencer concluded, "to justify your spending four years here: the habit of systematic study, insteady of the mere rearrangement of prejudices; a critical attitude, the ability to see other people's points of view as well as your own; and a sense of detachment, instead of self-centered selfishness."

HIGHLY ESTEEMED CITIZEN SAYS "VENDOL" IS AMAZING

Well Known Retired Baker Tells How This Great Remedy Relieved His Fiery, Gassy Acid Stomach Misery, Sluggish Bowels And Kidneys.

Mr. Fred W. Engel, who was for many years connected with the Hill Top Bakery in New Castle, but now retired, a man known all over this vicinity and nearby towns, says:

"For several years I had been suffering from a gassy, acid condition in my stomach which kept me in misery. It finally got to where my stomach was so full of this terrible gas and acid that my food would not digest right. I had pains after eating and a fiery, hot feeling all the way from my throat to my stomach I couldn't sleep because of nervous indigestion and I lost weight and strength. Guess my whole system was poisoned by this condition, and constipation, for I began to have dizzy spells, my kidneys acted too freely and I had pains in my back and limbs.

"Recently I began reading in the papers what Vendol was doing to help people living right here at home, so I made up my mind to try this medicine. I got some, also a box of Vendol laxative tablets. I tell you I am amazed at what this medicine did for me.

"It relieved my gassy, acid stomach and then I got relief from the gas pains and fiery burning and can now eat my meals and enjoy them without misery afterward, for the first time in a long while. If this medicine had done nothing more than that for me, I would have been Very Grateful, but it also flushed my sluggish kidneys and relieved the pains in my back; and it acted on my bowels as a laxative and relieved my constipation, so I have reason to be thankful for Vendol. I have gained some of my lost weight, I eat, sleep and feel better and can do my work with more ease than in years. I gladly give a public statement and heartily recommend Vendol and Vendol laxative tablets to all who suffer like I did."

MR. FRED W. ENGEL
With Hill Top Bakery For Years

VENDOL helps clear away poisonous wastes from the body in several ways at once. It is a laxative, mild diuretic and appetizer all at the same time. It helps Nature to flush impurities from the bowels, brings forth gas from the stomach, helps clear away excess bile and by its mild action checks over-active kidneys. Many people write us they soon feel like different men and women as a result of this cleansing and invigorating action of Vendol.

All leading druggists sell Vendol and the Vendol Man is now at New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St., daily meeting crowds of people and explaining all about this remarkable medicine. Come see him, learn how it will help you. Vendol is also sold by the New Castle Drug Co., 24 N. Mill St.

GRADUATES HEAR BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY EVENING

graduating class and at the close digressed a bit to recall some of his own New Castle high school commencement days. He told the audience that "high school in those days" was the upper floor of the present North street school and he said "our class was a magnificent one—with nine members." He said there was a faculty of three.

When the sermon ended the congregation sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and the program closed.

The audience remained seated while the seniors moved out of the auditorium.

For the organ postlude Mr. Taylor played "Finale from Second Suite" by Boellman and for his prelude numbers at the start of the evening he played "Allegro Maestoso from Sonata in G" by Edward Elgar, "Evensong" by Johnson and "Waltz Caprice," one of his own compositions.

Members of many churches joined parents, relatives, friends of the graduates-to-be for the baccalaureate exercises. Some of the congregations passed up their evening worship because of the Cathedral service.

Principal Orth announced today that the commencement exercises Wednesday will open promptly at 8 and that children will not be admitted to the auditorium after that hour unless they are accompanied by their parents.

Baccalaureate Message

Dr. White, speaking on "Life At Its Full," declared in part: "Once upon a time a truly great and good man was, as the result of religious persecution, a prisoner at Rome. Scholars tell us he was in the old, underground, Mamertine prison, which some of us have visited. While there he wrote several letters which have become a part of the most permanent literature of the ages. In the last of these he requested his friend, whom he was addressing, to come and visit him; to come if possible before winter; then added: 'The cloak that I left at Troas, with Carpus, bring when thou comest, and the books, especially the parchments'." (Tim. 4:13)

Using these words of the new renounced St. Paul as a text the speaker drew graphic word pictures of the apostle's old companion, his cloak; of his old-fashioned scrolls of poetry and philosophy, and of his precious parchment—rolls of old testament scriptures. "Cloak, books, parchments—especially the parchments! How meaningful they become when we let them speak to us of certain constant and universal human needs!" said Dr. White.

"The human body," declared Dr. White, "is a precious and sacred thing—to be reverenced and wisely cared for. It is the most marvelous and wonderful combination of matter that exists, a miniature world full of wonders, and to be used as a splendid instrument with which to work out God's high purpose for us. To neglect or abuse it is the work of an infidel, to needlessly destroy it is to do murder. Yet one of our distinguished medical authorities has declared that 'secret sins and kindred vices ruin more constitutions than hard work, severe study, hunger, cold, privation and disease combined.' Keep thyself clean and strong and fit in body.

"The needs of the human mind are suggested by our noble hero's desire for his books. He was already a highly educated man. He had been graduated, years before, from the celebrated school of Gamaliel at Jerusalem; had become preacher, teacher, missionary, world traveler and writer, yet he still yearned for books for the nourishment and satisfaction of his mind. "Never," said the speaker, "has there been greater need for the clear thinking of trained minds than today. With the world's thot largely in a state of flux who can tell what the future will be? It must and it will, however, be determined by those who have trained minds and can really think, know and understand. And what opportunities through our day schools, night schools, colleges, universities, libraries and publications for all, young or old, who have the desire and fixed purpose to have a clear, ready mind. "Strive earnestly," said Frederick Douglass, after overcoming tremendous handicaps of race and childhood, to add to your knowledge.

"The great Apostle's climax for 'Life at its full' was not in the things of the body or the mind, however, but in those of the spirit, as suggested by his words, 'especially the parchments.' Man has a body, and is endowed with mind, but man IS soul—to use a Bible term. In this he is created in the image of God, thirsts for God, and may live in harmony with God. And this spirit-life needs nourishment, development, exercise and care as surely as do the body and mind. Marvelous 'fruits of the spirit' are set forth in the scriptures, such as 'love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, self-control.' Think too, of that sublime trilogy of 'faith, hope and love.' And the greatest of these being love. None of these things can be measured by yardsticks, weighed on scales, or valued in dollars and cents. Neither are they mere intellectual attainments. They are things of the spirit, and they are the highest, most important and most satisfying things in life. "What shall it profit a man," said the greatest of all teachers, "if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and these (secondary) things shall be added unto you."

Yes! Use the coat; study the books, but do not forget the parchments. "Especially the parchments."

After closing his sermon with the beautiful and appropriate words of "The Chambered Nautilus," Dr. White addressed members of the graduating class directly, congratulating them upon their completion of the high school course of studies and their graduation. He referred with feeling to the time when he himself was a member of the graduating class of New Castle high school. There were but nine members of the class all-told at that time, but they had a wonderful and never-to-be-forgotten time.

He congratulated the class, the school and the community upon the great enlargements and improvements that have come during the intervening years, and closed his best wishes with Tiny Tim's "God bless us every one."

Dog Upsets Owner By Turning Thief

(International News Service)

SEATTLE Wash.—Boy, Mrs. William S. Dixon's 10-year-old Airedale dog, has her worried about his tendencies toward burglary.

His latest feat was bringing home an overcoat. His mistress, after diligent search, couldn't find the place he got it, and Boy was reticent on the subject.

He has a particular fancy for axes, hatchets, hammers and other tools with handles, which he brings home whenever located. Usually Mrs. Dixon can find the owner.

School Year At Synagogue Ends

After long months of study a large number of Sunday school students were rewarded by certificates, awards and promotion Sunday morning in Tifereth Israel synagogue.

The closing exercises, always an important event on the synagogue's calendar of the year, were witnessed by a gathering of proud parents and friends of the boys and girls. The program followed the impressive Orthodox Jewish forms which have been used for many generations.

Rabbi Pinchos Katz, leader of the congregation, was in charge, assisted by the officers of the synagogue and the Sunday school teachers.

In the evening another crowd of people gathered in the synagogue for the Zionist rally.

Story Of Golden Gate Bridge Told In Huge Figures

Dramatic Comparisons Revealed In Statistics On Golden Gate Bridge

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Following are some interesting figures on the structural features of the new Golden Gate bridge.

If all the rivets in the bridge were placed head to toe they would form a serpent thirty-six miles in length.

The 80,000 miles of wire in the two giant cables of the bridge would be sufficient to erect a standard wire fence six feet high on both sides of the main highway from Canada to the Mexican border, a distance of 1,600 miles. The wire, in a single length, would encircle the earth three and one-half times.

The two towers of the bridge, each 746 feet high, are 191 feet taller than the Washington Monument, and 313 feet taller than San Francisco's loftiest structure—the Russ Building. The Eiffel Tower in Paris exceeds the bridge towers in height by only 239 feet.

Huge Concrete Content

Concrete used in building the bridge equals the displacement of ten first-line battleships of 33,000 tons each. This concrete would build two 10-feet sidewalks on either side of the highway the entire distance from Omaha to Chicago.

The 100,000 tons of steel—structural and otherwise—in the bridge would fully load a freight train 20 miles long.

Lumber used during construction of the bridge is sufficient to build a village of seventy-eight modern, 5-room bungalows.

The bridge completed, can accommodate a maximum traffic flow of 260,000 vehicles per day.

The Golden Gate bridge is the first span in history to be constructed across a major harbor entrance.

Builds Prison Coal Mine In Large Jug

Works Over Year To Complete Model Of Coal Mine; Complete In Every Detail

(International News Service)

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—After 13 months of tedious work, Lewis Custead, a World War veteran, today had completed a miniature prison coal mine, constructed in a 5-gallon glass jug.

Custead used 5,240 pieces in the construction of the miniature scene, which includes a hanging, complete with the figures of guards, priest, the condemned man and the gallows. The materials used were coal, tin, wood, cotton and glue and all were inserted through the three-fourths of an inch neck of the jug by means of tools Custead made himself.

TRICKED

"It was grand of you to dive from that height, fully clothed, to effect a magnificent rescue," said the looker-on, patting the hero.

"That's all very well," said the hero, "but what I want to know is—who pushed me in?"

New Interest In Religion Is Seen

HEAD-WAITERS MAKE BIG MONEY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 7.—Diary: A joint postal card from Fanny Hurst and Bob and Madge Davis, whose paths had crossed in Florence, an outrageously ribald communique from Mickey Neilan and a note from my favorite drummer boy, Jack Powell, in London. So breakfasting on fried chicken Frank V. Jones air mailed from Kentucky.

O. O. McIntyre

At my desk but mostly gazing at the Chatham across the roofs, hoping to wave to Bill Corum, the duelist. And then to idle among the Madison avenue shops, meeting up with Aubrey Eads, who calls himself a rag merchant, and we sat awhile in the St. Regis quaffing a cowl of seltzer and lime.

To dinner at Papa Moneta's who told me of losing his money and almost his business during recent black days, but now back in stride. Then home and talking to Percy Crosby on his Virginia estate over the telephone, and listening to "Vox Pop," now one of my favorite wireless programs.

Books are being written and newspaper editorials are reflecting a sudden return to religion. And for some reason not accountable, save general world unrest, churchmen in the metropolitan area have noticed a sharp attendance increase, especially at morning services. The noon-day services at Trinity for brokers often overflows. Indeed the gain is general and no denomination has been neglected. In the apartment house where I live the doormen tell me there has been a steady rise in the neighborhood among those who "dress up and go to services." Rousseau once observed: "There never was a time when civilization was in need of a spiritual awakening that it did not arrive.

Serious minded movie goers are huffing and puffing over what they call the "after theatre high hats." They are those in evening clothes who go to such movie houses as Music Hall, the Capitol and Paramount after the play to kill off a little time before night clubs swing into high. It is declared they are not only noisy but poke fun at the screen players and otherwise spoil the picture for those who have come to enjoy and behave themselves. Several near altercations between the regulars and the interlopers have been stopped only by prompt action of ushers. It is a trifling thing, perhaps, in the life of the town but indicative of a snide brand of sportsmanship.

Personal nomination for the New York social world's most congenial couple—Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt.

The three better known headwaiters in town are probably Rene Black of the Waldorf, Gene of the Colony and Theodor Szarvas. Each of them knows the various graduations of society as perfectly as Cholly Knickerbocker. And thus are able to prevent the seating of some recent divorcee with her newest husband at a table adjoining her former husband and his newest flame. The wealthiest is Gene who is part owner of the Colony and has a vast palazzio with hunting grounds in Italy. Theodor, until he took a tumble in the market in 1929 was also well fixed. Theodore Titze, another celebrated headwaiter in his day, now conducts his own restaurant as does Bernard at The Mascotte.

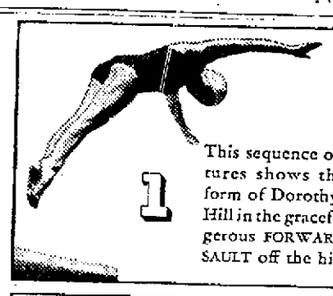

Often a columnist gets off innocently enough on the wrong foot. Recently, in what was an attempt to praise the flibberty-gibberty talk that constitutes much of the facetious art of the actress Mary Boland. I wrote something like this: "If Mary Boland talked that way off the stage she'd drive a person nuts." Evidently Miss Boland regarded it as a back-handed compliment, for she didn't wait to write: she telegraphed: "If you talk as you write you'd drive me nuts."

Bagatelles: J. P. Morgan likes to prowl around flower shops and never misses daily attendance at the flower show . . . Clyde Beatty, if the animals don't get him, expects to retire eventually to an Ohio farm . . . Sinclair Lewis likes to go to a strange city to write his novels . . . .Arthur Samuels was hauling off to publish a magazine this Fall when his backer died suddenly . . . George Gershwin is putting his savings into fine paintings . . . Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, was getting ready to give up his act when he was catapaulted into an amazing vogue . . . Jack Dempsey and his cafe backers are bowing coldly.

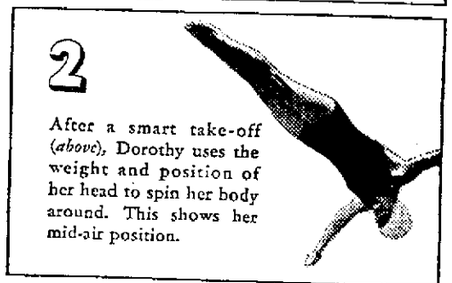

There is rough and ready bandinage in those sporty cafes off Broadway. In one the other evening an annoyed patron called out: "What do you have to do in this dump to get a glass of water?" And from a nearby booth someone replied: "Try setting yourself on fire!"

2 After a smart take-off (above), Dorothy uses the weight and position of her head to spin her body around. This shows her mid-air position.

3 Instead of the "pike" with body bent at hips—Dorothy executes the somersault the hard way—by the "layout" with body outstretched.

WORLD'S CHAMPION HIGH-DIVER

"IT'S a long way down from the high board," Dorothy says, "and if you add all the spins and twists I do—you can see why I enjoy Camels 'for digestion's sake.'" Mealtimes (right), and between meals, too, Dorothy prefers Camels. "I smoke whenever I want to," she says. "Camels never jangle my nerves." Camels help speed up the flow of digestive fluids and increase alkalinity. They set you right!

of dangerous inflation. But military budgets continue to expand."

CAN WE STOP

But can the United States stop? The writers themselves wonder, for they say:

"It is clear . . . that our present armed forces are more than adequate for the defense of our own shores. It is also clear that our present armed forces are not nearly strong enough to support our policies or defend our interests in all parts of the world. . . .

"If we as a nation intend to follow a foreign policy with no 'entangling alliances', but designed to protect our trade, our 'rights' and other national interests, then we will need the largest army and navy in the world. . . . We will require strongly fortified naval bases in the Far East to assure command of the seas. We will not want to give up the Philippines, and we will need new air bases for powerful squadrons of bombing planes. We will also need a strong expeditionary force, and a huge fleet of transports to carry American troops to danger points. . . ."

"On the other hand, if we follow a Good Neighbor policy which does not attempt to support our national interests by armed force, then we would not require anywhere near so large a program for adequate defense. Such a policy would try first, to provide a decent standard of living within our own borders and avoid the pressure for bigger foreign markets. It would also try to remove some of the economic tensions which lead to conflict between nations. his policy would mean, however, that we would give up our traditional neutral 'rights' and would not protect American ships carrying war materials in war zones. It would also mean that we would not attempt to uphold the Open Door policy in China by force of arms, and that we would withdraw from the game of power politics in the Far East. . . ."

"Finally, there is a third foreign policy which is urged by many Americans today. Advocates of this policy ask whether any constructive international settlement is possible unless the powers which 'desire peace' are willing to act together to prevent aggression. . . A policy of isolation, they say, plays into the hands of dictators. We must, therefore, be prepared to uphold international treaties and support the rule of law in co-operation with other democratic nations.

"It is not easy to estimate the defense requirements of such a policy. If this means that we must be prepared to stop the march of dictatorship by armed force, then it is hard to see how there can be any limit to the forces required. The conflict would not be fought for limited objectives; it would be a 'totalitarian' struggle in an age of unlimited war. . . ."

Excess Rain Is Noted Last Month

Temperature Conditions Are Near Normal, Statistics For May Reveal

Precipitation during the month of May amounted to 5.11 inches, an excess of 1.73 inches above the normal being shown, the figures of U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson reveal. Temperature conditions were near the normal mark, but were nine-tenths of a degree below the average for the month.

The mean maximum temperature was 72.2 degrees, the mean minimum 45.6 degrees, and the mean or average, 58.6 degrees. The highest was 87 degrees on May 3, and the lowest was 31 degrees on May 11. The greatest daily range was 46 degrees on May 3.

With 5.11 inches of precipitation, the greatest fall in 24 hours was 1.20 inches on May 27. Dates with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 16, days clear 15, partly cloudy, 10, and cloudy, 6.

The normal temperature for May is 59.5 degrees. In May 1936, the temperature was seven-tenths of a degree over the normal, while the precipitation was 1.04 inches under the normal, which for May is 3.38 inches.

ticklish situation amid large gobs of royalty.

He was in command of a large troop outfit visited by Edward, then Prince of Wales. And later the King and Queen also came to visit the troops and to have lunch.

Edward, with his usual democracy, was out fraternizing with the men, when the time came to eat, and the King and Queen were growing impatient.

The orderlies were afraid to go and break up the animated conversation about guns and horses in which Edward was engaged with the troopers, so General Gilchrist took the job upon himself.

With military precision he marched up to the Prince and with American bluntness blurted out:

"Pardon me, Prince, but your Pa and Ma are here and they want to eat!"

What I'm trying to say is that I've had 35 years that nobody can take away from me, no matter what they do to the world. See? . . . Quiet, everybody, quiet! Well sir, here we are again. We want to say thanks once more for everything You've done for us. . . We've all got our health and as far as anything else is concerned, we'll leave it to You. Thank You."

Seeks Funds To Paint Schools In Bessemer

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7—Funds for a WPA project to paint two school buildings in Bessemer have been requested by Representative Charles Eckert, it was learned at his office today.

According to information supplied to Eckert by Bessemer school authorities approximately $5,000 will be required for the work.

The school painting project has already been approved by the district and State works progress administration office, and an allocation of funds is expected at an early date.

Bessemer school authorities wrote Eckert that early approval of the project in Washington is imperative in order to permit completion of the painting during the summer vacation period.

AROUND CITY HALL

Proprietors of several beer parlors in which dancing is permitted have conferred with Mayor Charles E. McGrath concerning his order to Chief of Police Ralph Criswell that the latter renew no licenses to dance unless the proprietors conferred with the mayor.

Promiscuous tooting of automobile horns by operators of cars in wedding processions is not liked by police officials and it would not be surprising if the police are instructed to order such operators before His Honor the Mayor. Some time ago the mayor put a ban on continuous horn tooting late at night or in the wee hours of the morning.

Sometime ago Attorney Charles Matthews, representing residents pointed out the dangers of traffic at Wallace Avenue and North Jefferson street and later Tom Bovles of The Castleton urged council to make some provision for caring for traffic at Falls and North Mercer streets. The North street and Neshannock avenue situation has also been discussed and it is believed that perhaps this year three new traffic lights may be installed to take care of these three corners.

Highway Group To Meet Friday, June 11

Matters pertaining to the Benjamin Franklin Highway, route U. S. 224, will be taken up in the Castleton hotel on Friday, June 11, when a meeting of the association will be held. A noon luncheon will be held after which the business meeting will be held.

If we have different ideas, it is only because chance gave us different material of which to make them.

J. W. Heitzman Dies Suddenly

Is Found Dead In Garage Saturday Afternoon, Seated In Car

Joseph W. Heitzman, retired steel mill policeman, of 412 Euclid avenue, was found dead seated in his automobile in his garage about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. According to a physician, who was summoned by Mrs. Heitzman, death had resulted from a heart attack.

He had been working in his garden during the afternoon, while Mrs. Heitzman was away, and possibly had felt ill and gone into the garage.

His body was discovered by Mrs. Heitzman on her return from a shopping trip. He had not been dead long when his body was discovered, Coroner Potter stated.

New Wilmington, Pa., June 7.—Every piece of labor legislation now upon the statute books of the nation and the forty different states is based upon fear and a sense of insecurity," Dr. W. H. Spencer, Dean of the School of Businesss, University of Chicago, told members of the 1937 graduating class today.

This generation, Dr. Spencer said, must solve the problem of whether the organization of giant labor unions to struggle with giant corporate employers, matching large-scale organization against large-scale organization, is the way to industrial peace.

"You must carry with you three attitudes from college," Dr. Spencer concluded, "to justify your spending four years here: the habit of systematic study, instead of the mere rearrangement of prejudices; a critical attitude, the ability to see other people's points of view as well as your own; and a sense of detachment, instead of self-centered selfishness."

HIGHLY ESTEEMED CITIZEN SAYS "VENDOL" IS AMAZING

Well Known Retired Baker Tells How This Great Remedy Relieved His Fiery, Gassy Acid Stomach Misery, Sluggish Bowels And Kidneys.

MR. FRED W. ENGEL
With Hill Top Bakery For Years

Mr. Fred W. Engel, who was for many years connected with the Hill Top Bakery in New Castle, but now retired, a man known all over this vicinity and nearby towns, says:

"For several years I had been suffering from a gassy, acid condition in my stomach which kept me in misery. It finally got to where my stomach was so full of this terrible gas and acid that my food would not digest right. I had pains after eating and a fiery, hot feeling all the way from my throat to my stomach I couldn't sleep because of nervous indigestion and I lost weight and strength. Guess my whole system was poisoned by this condition, and constipation, for I began to have dizzy spells, my kidneys acted too freely and I had pains in my back and limbs.

"Recently I began reading in the papers what Vendol was doing to help people living right here at home, so I made up my mind to try this medicine. I got some, also a box of Vendol laxative tablets. I tell you I am amazed at what this medicine did for me.

"It relieved my gassy, acid stomach and then I got relief from the gas pains and fiery burning and can now eat my meals and enjoy them without misery afterward, for the first time in a long while. If this medicine had done nothing more than that for me, I would have been Very Grateful, but it also flushed my sluggish kidneys and relieved the pains in my back; and it acted on my bowels as a laxative and relieved my constipation, so I have reason to be thankful for Vendol. I have gained some of my lost weight, I eat, sleep and feel better and can do my work with more ease than in years. I gladly give a public statement and heartily recommend Vendol and Vendol laxative tablets to all who suffer like I did."

VENDOL helps clear away poisonous wastes from the body in several ways at once. It is a laxative, mild diuretic and appetizer all at the same time. It helps Nature to flush impurities from the bowels, brings forth gas from the stomach, helps clear away excess bile and by its mild action checks overactive kidneys. Many people write us they soon feel like different men and women as a result of this cleansing and invigorating action of Vendol.

All leading druggists sell Vendol and the Vendol Man is now at New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St., daily meeting crowds of people and explaining all about this remarkable medicine. Come see him, learn how it will help you. Vendol is also sold by the New Castle Drug Co., 24 N. Mill St.

graduating class and at the close digressed a bit to recall some of his own New Castle high school commencement days. He told the audience that "high school in those days" was the upper floor of the present North street school and he said "our class was a magnificent one—with nine members." He said there was a faculty of three.

When the sermon ended the congregation sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and the program closed.

The audience remained seated while the seniors moved out of the auditorium.

For the organ postlude Mr. Taylor played "Finale from Second Suite" by Boellman and for his prelude numbers at the start of the evening he played "Allegro Maestoso from Sonata in G" by Edward Elgar, "Evensong" by Johnson and "Waltz Caprice," one of his own compositions.

Members of many churches joined parents, relatives, friends of the graduates-to-be for the baccalaureate exercises. Some of the congregations passed up their evening worship because of the Cathedral service.

Principal Orth announced today that the commencement exercises Wednesday will open promptly at 8 and that children will not be admitted to the auditorium after that hour unless they are accompanied by their parents.

Baccalaureate Message

Dr. White, speaking on "Life At Its Full," declared in part: "Once upon a time a truly great and good man was, as the result of religious persecution, a prisoner at Rome. Scholars tell us he was in the old, underground, Mamertine prison, which some of us have visited. While there he wrote several letters which have become a part of the most permanent literature of the ages. 'In the last of these he requested his friend, whom he was addressing, to come and visit him; to come if possible before winter; then added: 'The cloak that I left at Troas, with Carpus, bring when thou comest, and the books, especially the parchments'." (Tim. 4:13)

Using these words of the new renowned St. Paul as a text the speaker drew graphic word pictures of the apostle's old companion, his cloak; of his old-fashioned scrolls of poetry and philosophy, and of his precious parchment—rolls of old testament scriptures. "Cloak, books, parchments—especially the parchments! How meaningful they become when we let them speak to us of certain constant and universal human needs!" said Dr. White.

"The human body," declared Dr. White, "is a precious and sacred thing—to be reverenced and wisely cared for. It is the most marvelous and wonderful combination of matter that exists, a miniature world full of wonders, and to be used as a splendid instrument with which to work out God's high purpose for us. To neglect or abuse it is the work of an infidel, to needlessly destroy it is to do murder. Yet one of our distinguished medical authorities has declared that 'secret sins and kindred vices ruin more constitutions than hard work, severe study, hunger, cold, privation and disease combined.' Keep thyself clean and strong and fit in body.

"The needs of the human mind are suggested by our noble hero's desire for his books. He was already a highly educated man. He had been graduated, years before, from the celebrated school of Gamaliel at Jerusalem; had become preacher, teacher, missionary, world traveler and writer, yet he still yearned for books for the nourishment and satisfaction of his mind. "Never," said the speaker, "has there been greater need for the clear thinking of trained minds than today. With the world's thot largely in a state of flux who can tell what the future will be? It must and it will, however, be determined by those who have trained minds and can really think, know and understand. And what opportunities through our day schools, night schools, colleges, universities, libraries and publications for all, young or old, who have the desire and fixed purpose to have a clear, ready mind. "Strive earnestly," said Frederick Douglass, after overcoming tremendous handicaps of race and childhood, to add to your knowledge.

"The great Apostle's climax for 'Life at its full' was not in the things of the body or the mind, however, but in those of the spirit, as suggested by his words, 'especially the parchments.' Man has a body, and is endowed with mind, but man IS soul—to use a Bible term. In this he is created in the image of God, thirsts for God, and may live in harmony with God. And this spirit-life needs nourishment, development, exercise and care as surely as do the body and mind. Marvelous 'fruits of the spirit' are set forth in the scriptures, such as 'love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, self-control.' Think too, of that sublime trilogy of 'faith, hope and love.' And the greatest of these being love. None of these things can be measured by yardsticks, weighed on scales, or valued in dollars and cents. Neither are they mere intellectual attainments. They are things of the spirit, and they are the highest, most important and most satisfying things in life. "What shall it profit a man," said the greatest of all teachers, "if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and these (secondary) things shall be added unto you."

Yes! Use the coal; study the books, but do not forget the parchments. "Especially the parchments."

After closing his sermon with the beautiful and appropriate words of "The Chambered Nautilus," Dr. White addressed members of the graduating class directly, congratulating them upon their completion of the high school course of studies and their graduation. He referred with feeling to the time when he himself was a member of the graduating class of New Castle high school. There were but nine members of the class all told at that time, but they had a wonderful and never-to-be-forgotten time.

He congratulated the class, the school and the community upon the great enlargements and improvements that have come during the intervening years, and closed his best wishes with Tiny Tim's "God bless us every one."

Park Services Start June 20

New Castle Ministerial Association Announces Cascade Park Plans

SERVICES EVERY SUNDAY EVENING

Plans are being made by the New Castle Ministerial association to conduct union vesper services in Cascade park from June 20 to September 5 each Sunday evening. On the committee of arrangements are the Revs. Thomas B. Shearer, John J. McIlvaine, A. M. Stump and R. B. Withers.

In addition to the music furnished by the various choirs the association has arranged with Thomas Cramer for provision of a brass quartet which will play an instrumental prelude from 6:45 to 7 o'clock each service night and assist with the music during the meeting as needed.

In place of the song sheets used last year, copies of the song books used during the National Preaching Mission have been obtained for these services. The books give a much larger choice of hymns.

Solve Rain Problem

One of the problems of other years has been solved, that of the rainy night. The committee has made arrangements with the management of the dance pavilion for its use in case of rain. There can be no doubt as to the place of meeting. It will always be the park.

The program of speakers follows:

June 20—D. L. Ferguson, Highland U. P.

June 27—R. T. Williams, First Congregational.

July 4—S. E. Irvine, First U. P.

July 11—H. A. McCurdy, Epworth M. E.

July 18—C. B. Wingerd, Central Presbyterian.

July 25—F. E. Stough, St. John's Lutheran.

August 1—Seventh ward churches.

August 8—E. G. Russell, Reformed Presbyterian.

August 15—Thomas B. Shearer, Central Christian.

August 22—J. J. McIlvaine, First Presbyterian.

August 29—Einar Lehto, Finnish Lutheran.

September 5—N. A. White, First M. E.

Choirs Will Sing.

The choirs of the various churches with their directors will have charge of the music. The ushers of each church will have charge of the distributing and collecting of the song books. The meeitngs will be, as always, interdenominational and it is hoped that large crowds will gather in the park each Sunday evening. Unless it is raining the meetings will be at the bandstand.

SEATTLE Wash.—Boy, Mrs. William S. Dixon's 10-year-old Airedale dog, has her worried about his tendencies toward burglary.

His latest feat was bringing home an overcoat. His mistress, after diligent search, couldn't find the place he got it, and Boy was reticent on the subject.

He has a particular fancy for axes, hatchets, hammers and other tools with handles, which he brings home whenever located. Usually Mrs. Dixon can find the owner.

Story Of Golden Gate Bridge Told In Huge Figures

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Following are some interesting figures on the structural features of the new Golden Gate bridge.

If all the rivets in the bridge were placed head to toe they would form a serpent thirty-six miles in length.

The 80,000 miles of wire in the two giant cables of the bridge would be sufficient to erect a standard wire fence six feet high on both sides of the main highway from Canada to the Mexican border, a distance of 1,600 miles. The wire, in a single length, would encircle the earth three and one-half times.

The two towers of the bridge, each 746 feet high, are 191 feet taller than the Washington Monument, and 313 feet taller than San Francisco's loftiest structure—the Russ Building. The Eiffel Tower in Paris exceeds the bridge towers in height by only 239 feet.

Huge Concrete Content

Concrete used in building the bridge equals the displacement of ten first-line battleships of 33,000 tons each. This concrete would build two 10-feet sidewalks on either side of the highway the entire distance from Omaha to Chicago.

The 100,000 tons of steel—structural and otherwise—in the bridge would fully load a freight train 20 miles long.

Lumber used during construction of the bridge is sufficient to build a village of seventy-eight modern, 5-room bungalows.

The bridge completed, can accommodate a maximum traffic flow of 260,000 vehicles per day.

(International News Service)

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—After 13 months of tedious work, Lewis Custead, a World War veteran, today had completed a miniature prison coal mine, constructed in a 5-gallon glass jug.

Custead used 5,240 pieces in the construction of the miniature scene, which includes a hanging, complete with the figures of guards, priest, the condemned man and the gallows. The materials used were coal, tin, wood, cotton and glue and all were inserted through the three-fourths of an inch neck of the jug by means of tools Custead made himself.

TRICKED

TO LAUNCH NEW STATE RELIEF EXPERIMENT

Poor Boards In Counties Ousted

Legislature Creates New Agency For Permanent Handling Of Relief

LOCAL ASSISTANCE BOARDS TO BE NAMED

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 7—Driven by depression-born necessity, the Earle administration today embarked the state on a new $137,000,000 social welfare experiment, putting into operation a new state department of public assistance for the permanent administration of all relief.

First state department added to the executive branch of the Pennsylvania government since 1927 when the Department of Revenue was created the new agency will bring under one head the highly similar relief and public assistance problems. Under it old age assistance, mother's assistance and blind pension agencies operate in conjunction with the administration of the direct dole.

Problem Permanent

In the face of contradicting factors of business and industrial booms and a corresponding swell in relief rolls, the administration held the unemployment relief problem was one destined to remain permanently in varied forms of severity.

The enacted assistance program was the product of months of study by the so-called Goodrich committee, plus the administration's own views and slight modifications incorporated by "home rule" advocates.

In perhaps the most dramatic fight of the session, however, the Democratic home-rule supports' objections to the ripping out of 375 county boards was beaten down.

Local Relief Boards

The "Ripper" bill went through, providing for local relief boards to be named by the governor and responsible to the new state department of assistance.

The ripper battle came in the last hours of the session. Pressure unprecedented in the current administration crushed the home rule revolt in the house and the following phases of the Goodrich-Earle program became Pennsylvania law:

1. Establishment of the new department of assistance, with only a mild form of civil service, devoid of educational requirements, for department employes. The change takes all forms of relief from the department of welfare and the ERB.
2. Creation of seven-member local assistance boards in all counties except Philadelphia and Allegheny, where 11 members shall compromise the boards, to operate under the state department.
3. Abolition of 200 year old poor boards and incidental scrappings of the state emergency relief administration instituted under Gov. Gifford Pinchot.
4. Placing of "indoor" relief administration, county homes, etc., in the hands of the county commissioners.

Leadership Will Be Theme Stressed

County Sabbath School Workers To Hear Able Man On Subject Thursday

One of the phases of Sunday school work being stressed at the 99th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which is to be held at the Third U. P. church, Thursday of this week June 10, will be raising the standard of teaching efficiency and consecration of the teachers in the individual Sunday schools.

The minister who has been most successful in doing this in this section of the country is Rev. Fred H. Willkins, of the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Pittsburgh, whose subject at the afternoon session will be "Leadership Training for the Local Church." He will also conduct a conference and instruction period following the afternoon session which is especially suited for pastors and Sunday school superintendents. His subject will be "Finding and Training Leaders."

He couldn't steer.... he couldn't stop.... 4 lives hung in the balance!

CHARLES FRANCIS "Socker" COE recounts a never-to-be-forgotten ride with three children as the innocent victims of near disaster.

CHARLES FRANCIS "Socker" COE . . . Well-known, two-fisted Sports Writer, Novelist

"HOP IN, children,—first stop Kentland," beamed Mr. Harry Folkerth of Chicago, Ill. "And your mother won't have to worry about your safety—not with me at the wheel," he added with confidence. "You don't catch me taking chances—life's too sweet."

But, sadly enough, it happened when they were out on the main through highway, less than two miles from Kentland. No warning of any sort—nothing but an ear-splitting BANG that rocked the car like a toy horse!

The three children let out a pitiful shriek, the car streaked to the left. Mr. Folkerth couldn't steer—he couldn't stop! A speeding sedan blocked the way. But by some stroke of fortune the oncoming car took a wide swerve, missed their uncontrollable car by inches.

Fight these dangerous high-speed blow-outs the way thousands of "play safe" motorists are doing. Ride on Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns, the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply—the amazing Goodrich invention that resists the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this blistering, invisible heat, the Golden Ply licks the great, unseen cause of high-speed blow-outs.

Drive in today and put a set of these life-saving Golden Ply Silvertowns on your car. They cost much less than other super-quality tires and give you months of extra mileage.

J. W. Heitzman Dies Suddenly

Is Found Dead In Garage Saturday Afternoon, Seated In Car

Joseph W. Heitzman, retired steel mill policeman, of 412 Euclid avenue, was found dead seated in his automobile in his garage about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. According to a physician, who was summoned by Mrs. Heitzman, death had resulted from a heart attack.

Mr. Heitzman was retired on pension at the steel plant about eight years ago. He had been suffering from arthritis for a number of years, it was stated, but had been able to get around. He had been working in his garden during the afternoon, while Mrs. Heitzman was away, and possibly had felt ill and gone into the garage.

His body was discovered by Mrs. Heitzman on her return from a shopping trip. He had not been dead long when his body was discovered, Coroner Potter stated.

Mr. Heitzman was born in New Castle on March 14, 1867, son of Ferdinand and Grace Heitzman, and passed his lifetime here. For 46 years he was an engineer in the Shenango tin mill, retiring nine years ago.

He was a member of the Lodge of the Craft, F. & A. M., and the New Castle Consistory.

His wife, Carrie E. Lloyd Heitzman, to whom he had been married thirty years, a step-son, Roy F. Lynam, two grandchildren, Alice and Lee Lynam, of Seattle, Wash., and one sister, Josephine, in Detroit, Mich., survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 3 p. m. in the residence with Rev. S. E. Irvine, D. D., of the First U. P. church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park Mausoleum.

Park Services Start June 20

SERVICES EVERY SUNDAY EVENING

Plans are being made by the New Castle Ministerial association to conduct union vesper services in Cascade park from June 20 to September 5 each Sunday evening. On the committee of arrangements are the Revs. Thomas B. Shearer, John J. McIlvaine, A. M. Stump and R. B. Withers.

In addition to the music furnished by the various choirs the association has arranged with Thomas Cramer for provision of a brass quartet which will play an instrumental prelude from 6:45 to 7 o'clock each service night and assist with the music during the meeting as needed.

In place of the song sheets used last year, copies of the song books used during the National Preaching Mission have been obtained for these services. The books give a much larger choice of hymns.

Solve Rain Problem

One of the problems of other years has been solved, that of the rainy night. The committee has made arrangements with the management of the dance pavilion for its use in case of rain. There can be no doubt as to the place of meeting. It will always be the park.

The program of speakers follows:

June 20—D. L. Ferguson, Highland U. P.

June 27—R. T. Williams, First Congregational.

July 18—C. B. Wingerd, Central Presbyterian.

July 25—F. E. Stough, St. John's Lutheran.

August 1—Seventh ward churches.

August 15—Thomas B. Shearer, Central Christian.

August 22—J. J. McIlvaine, First Presbyterian.

Choirs Will Sing.

The choirs of the various churches with their directors will have charge of the music. The ushers of each church will have charge of the distributing and collecting of the song books. The meeitngs will be, as always, interdenominational and it is hoped that large crowds will gather in the park each Sunday evening. Unless it is raining the meetings will be at the bandstand.

History Of Lawrence County Sabbath School Conventions Of Past

(Third Of Series)

The fifteenth convention was held at the Neshannock Presbyterian church. Names that appeared on the program were Rev. J. M. Mealy, Rev. V. Miller and Rev. R. A. Brown. The chief topic of discussion was, "The Improvement of the Sunday School."

The sixteenth convention was held at the New Port Presbyterian church. Here surrounded by solid rocks and overlooking the beautiful big Beaver, a good day was spent. The first question was, "What We Want in Our Work." Mrs. Crider said "Pastors should urge parents to send their children to Sunday school without waiting to dress them up like butterflies, and then keep poorer children coming lest they be ridiculed for their plain dress."

The seventeenth convention was held at the M. E. church at Edinburg. Two celebrated workers were with us at this meeting, Rev. Geo. A. Peltz, secretary of the State Association and the president of Allegheny College, the Rev. Dr. Loomis.

The Eighteenth and thirty-sixth conventions were both held at the Rich Hill Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Hervey stated that at least 6,000 youth of Lawrence County know not Jesus. Six thousand times the worth of the world is at stakes.

The nineteenth and thirtieth conventions were held at the Plain Grove Presbyterian church. At the nineteenth convention the question under discussion was the "Uniform Lesson Series." At the thirtieth convention Rev. George S. Rice said that the success of these conventions was a proof that God was using them for His glory and our good.

The twentieth convention was held at the Baptist church of Hillsville. Speaking of the Superintendent, Elder W. F. Cowden said, "He ought to be an organizer, a harmonizer and a vitalizer.

A copy of the new election code, presumably as it passed the General Assembly has reached the office of the county commissioners. In the main it corresponds to the present election code but there are a few changes.

The biggest change perhaps is the one requiring candidates in the primary to deposit a fee with their nomination petitions. This fee is not returned under any circumstances, even though the candidate withdraws and his name does not appear on the ballot.

he price runs from fifty cents to $50. If you want to be a candidate for president of the United States the fee is fifty dollars. The same fee is charged for any state wide office such as United States senator, governor, or any of the various offices for which the entire state votes.

To run for congress or for a county judgeship the fee is $35. For General Assembly, or for any county or city office, the fee is $25. For judge or inspector of elections the fee is fifty cents. Offices which pay no salary have no filing fee.

The one party restriction to candidates is in force in the code with the judgeships excepted. If you desire to run for sheriff, commissioner, city council or the like you must swear that you are a member of the party whose nomination you seek. For a judgeship you can file on as many tickets as you can get signers for.

The hours the polls are open are changed to read from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. instead of 7 to 7 as heretofore. This means that returns will not begin drifting in on election nights until about 10 o'clock and will strengthen the election alibi of husbands.

Until a printed copy of the signed act is received one cannot be sure that there have not been corrections and amendments.

The June term of criminal court starts today with the grand jury sitting. The probabilities are they will be in session until at least Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning. There are two matters that should come up before the grand jury but likely neither will. The replacement of the Harris bridge would probably come before the grand jury but if the state takes over the road it will also take over the bridge and obviate any necessity of county action.

The matter of more room in the court house should come up with particular reference to office room for the county commissioners. However it is necessary to prepare plans for any improvement that is proposed and it is impossible to get plans made for a commissioners' office in time for the grand jury.

The permanent registration bureau office was clear of anybody but the paperhangers Saturday. The commissioners and the chief clerk of the registration commission performed their duties on the porch.

TO LAUNCH NEW STATE RELIEF EXPERIMENT

Poor Boards In Counties Ousted

Legislature Creates New Agency For Permanent Handling Of Relief

LOCAL ASSISTANCE BOARDS TO BE NAMED

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 7—Driven by depression-born necessity, the Earle administration today embarked the state on a new $137,000,000 social welfare experiment, putting into operation a new state department of public assistance for the permanent administration of all relief.

First state department added to the executive branch of the Pennsylvania government since 1927 when the Department of Revenue was created the new agency will bring under one head the highly similar relief and public assistance problems. Under it old age assistance, mother's assistance and blind pension agencies operate in conjunction with the administration of the direct dole.

Problem Permanent

In the face of contradicting factors of business and industrial booms and a corresponding swell in relief rolls, the administration held the unemployment relief problem was one destined to remain permanently in varied forms of severity.

The enacted assistance program was the product of months of study by the so-called Goodrich committee, plus the administration's own views and slight modifications incorporated by "home rule" advocates.

In perhaps the most dramatic fight of the session, however, the Democratic home-rule supports' objections to the ripping out of 375 county boards was beaten down.

Local Relief Boards

The "Ripper" bill went through, providing for local relief boards to be named by the governor and responsible to the new state department of assistance.

The ripper battle came in the last hours of the session. Pressure unprecedented in the current administration crushed the home rule revolt in the house and the following phases of the Goodrich-Earle program became Pennsylvania law:

1. Establishment of the new department of assistance, with only a mild form of civil service, devoid of educational requirements, for department employes. The change takes all forms of relief from the department of welfare and the ERB.

2. Creation of seven-member local assistance boards in all counties except Philadelphia and Allegheny, where 11 members shall compromise the boards, to operate under the state department.

3. Abolition of 200 year old poor boards and incidental scrappings of the state emergency relief administration instituted under Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

4. Placing of "indoor" relief administration, county homes, etc., in the hands of the county commissioners.

County Sabbath School Workers To Hear Able Man On Subject Thursday

One of the phases of Sunday school work being stressed at the 99th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which is to be held at the Third U. P. church, Thursday of this week June 10, will be raising the standard of teaching efficiency and consecration of the teachers in the individual Sunday schools.

The minister who has been most successful in doing this in this section of the country is Rev. Fred H. Willkins, of the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Pittsburgh, whose subject at the afternoon session will be "Leadership Training for the Local Church." He will also conduct a conference and instruction period following the afternoon session which is especially suited for pastors and Sunday school superintendents. His subject will be "Finding and Training Leaders."

He couldn't steer.... he couldn't stop.... 4 lives hung in the balance!

CHARLES FRANCIS "Socker" COE . . . Well-known, two-fisted Sports Writer, Novelist

"HOP IN, children,—first stop Kentland," beamed Mr. Harry Folkerth of Chicago, Ill. "And your mother won't have to worry about your safety—not with me at the wheel," he added with confidence. "You don't catch me taking chances—life's too sweet."

But, sadly enough, it happened when they were out on the main through highway, less than two miles from Kentland. No warning of any sort—nothing but an ear-splitting BANG that rocked the car like a toy horse!

The three children let out a pitiful shriek, the car streaked to the left. Mr. Folkerth couldn't steer—he couldn't stop! A speeding sedan blocked the way. But by some stroke of fortune the oncoming car took a wide swerve, missed their uncontrollable car by inches.

Fight these dangerous high-speed blow-outs the way thousands of "play safe" motorists are doing. Ride on Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns, the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply—the amazing Goodrich invention that resists the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this blistering, invisible heat, the Golden Ply licks the great, unseen cause of high-speed blow-outs.

Drive in today and put a set of these life-saving Golden Ply Silvertowns on your car. They cost much less than other super-quality tires and give you months of extra mileage.

Giants Upset Pirates And Climb To Top

Score Is 9 To 5 At Polo Grounds; Carl Hubbell Comes To Rescue

GIANTS HAVE HIT WINNING STRIDE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7—In much the same fashion that they won that National League pennant, the Giants are rolling along again this year, and today hold down the lead by a matter of one game over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants beat the Pirates yesterday, with the aid of Carl Hubbell, and with that scored their 13th victory in their last 17 games—a feat reminiscent of their late season surge in 1936 when they made up lost ground with several winning sprees.

Have Hit Stride

The Giants didn't do too well at the start of the current campaign, but apparently have hit their stride now and then and seem to be in the race with the Pirates, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals to stay.

Schumacher pitched yesterday's victory—down to the last two outs, which Hubbell made after the game had been interrupted by a rainstorm. Schumacher might have been able to finish even without Hubbell's aid, although the former gradually was getting no better toward the close, despite the final outcome of 9 to 5.

The Cardinals won a double header beating the Philadelphia Phillies by 7 to 2 in the opener, on Lon Warneke's pitching, then being handed the nightcap as a gift on a forfeit from umpire Ziggy Sears. He charged the Phils with stalling in the third inning after the Cards had piled up an 8 to 2 advantage with the Sunday curfew law at Philadelphia drawing close.

Boston Splits

Tarzan Parmlee pitched the Cubs to their 10th win in their last 12 starts and gave them an even break with the Boston Bees, who had won the opener on the pitching of guy Bush, the old Cub. The Bees won by 7 to 1 and lost by 7 to 2.

The Cincinnati Reds experienced virtually no trouble at all with the Dodgers, and won by 9 to 2, rapping out 16 hits off three hurlers including a home run Kampouris with the bases loaded.

The American League race was tightened up slightly by a Detroit Tigers 5 to 4 victory over the pacesetting Yankees. Tommy Bridges singling home the winning run in the ninth after stopping a Yankee uprising. The defeat broke Red Ruffing's string of four straight for the Yanks.

Indians Lose

The Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the ninth to tie the score but lost to the Washington Senators by 8 to 7 in the 10th, a second game was rained out.

The Boston Red Sox took the opener from the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 5, then lost the nightcap to Rookie Julio Bonetti, 3 to 2.

The Chicago White Sox moved up into the race by beating the Philadelphia Athletics in both ends of a double header, 6 to 1 and 6 to 5 for their 12th straight, leaving them in a virtual tie with the Indians for second place.

The New Castle Red Sox baseball team formerly the Wilmington Sluggers defeated the House of Schmidts team at Lehigh Field Sunday 8 to 0 behind the great four-hit pitching of Bobolin who fanned three men. The Sox had eight hits off of Cooper and Stanley.

The game had to be called at the end of the fifth by rain.

War Admiral Is Belmont Winner

War Admiral Makes It Three In Row, Derby, Preakness And Belmont Stakes

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 7.—War Admiral, painfully injured on Saturday in running the Belmont stakes as they never before had been run, even by his ultra-distinguished sire, will be out of racing until the Saratoga meeting and perhaps for the remainder of the season, the writer learned from unimpeachable sources today. There was, it was said, even a possibility—remote but recognizable by examining veterinarians—that he might be finished with racing for life.

A thorough examination in the animal's stall at Belmont Park yesterday morning, when few were about, revealed a very deep gash in the cold's right forefoot. But what they really feared was infection. If that sets in, it was said, they would have to grow a new hoof, in which case the great son of a great father, Man O' War, would be through for the year.

Close To Record.

Meantime, everybody was still gabbling about the miracle of this horse race, in which the Admiral dug a divot out of his own foot right at the barrier; then ran a mile and a half to a race record of 2:28 3-5, shading his sire's time by a fifth-second. He was close to the track record. But they say he could have beaten it easily. He won by three lengths from Sceneshifter. But they say it could have been six.

He was eased up under Charley Kurtsinger's hands, after turning the mile in 1:37 and the derby distance, 1 1-4 miles, in 2:02 1-5, a second faster than his Kentucky Derby effort. Yet there was a trail of blood in the saddling ring after the race.

Only three horses—Sir Barton, Omaha and Gallant Fox—ever before had won the derby, Preakness and Belmont, but none could and did do it in the manner of this comparatively small but actually tremendous horse.

Here And There In Sports' Land

Harry Cooper and Horton Smith took first prize, $1,000, in the third annual Inverness best ball match play tourney at Toledo yesterday. They won because Tommy Armour missed by an inch a putt which he and Jimmie Thomson needed on the final hole of the 126 hole tournament to win.

Betty Jameson, San Antonio, won the eleventh annual Trans-Mississippi women's golf championship yesterday at San Antonio when she defeated Patty Berg of Minneapolis, 4 and 3.

The Giants have announced the purchase of Hank MacDonald, a right-hand hurler from the Pacific Coast league for their International league team at Jersey City. He formerly played with the Athletics and the Browns.

Eulace Peacock, Temple U. scored 3,030 points to win the National A. A. U. pentathlon championship at Jersey City. He won the running broad jump and 200 meter dash and finished second in the 500 meter run, javelin and discus throw events. Arkie Trento, last year's winner, did not compete.

Robert Riggs, 19, Los Angeles, won an all Pacific coast final yesterday at Hartford, Ct., in the concluding match of the New England tennis championships. He lost only one match to Walter Senior of San Francisco as he annexed the sectional title, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Donkey Baseball Game At Bessemer

Members Of Bessemer Baseball Team Will Stage Unique Game On Wednesday

Jim Martin of the Bessemer baseball team announced today that on Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock the Bassemer baseball team will play a Donkey Baseball Darby, something very amusing. The players will all ride donkeys during the game.

This is the first time that Bessemer has seen anything like this. In the event of good weather there should be a big crowd on hand.

The Bessemer team is leading the Slovak league in Youngstown and also the Lawrence county league. Yesterday in the Slovak league the Bessemers handed Campbell a 15 to 3 setback. Valentine featured the game by crashing out a homer with the bases choked.

Moore, Schulte Are Doing Well

Two Of Most Recently "Beaned" Big League Players Recovering

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 7—"Very good and out of danger," was the report from Polyclinic Hospital this morning on the condition of outfielders Joe Moore and Fred Schulte, who were hit on the head by thrown balls in recent games at the Polo Grounds. Shulte, Pirate outfielder, was felled at the plate by a pitched ball in Saturday's game with the Giants. Moore, Giant mainstay, was struck by a ball thrown to second base a few days before.

He suffered a concussion and will not be able to leave the hospital for a few days, perhaps a week. Schulte, not injured as badly as was at first feared, probably will be released by the middle of the week, it was said.

This was the third head-injury suffered locally in recent games, Mickey Cochrane, Detroit's great player-manager, suffering a fractured skull at the Yankee Stadium during the last week of May.

A copy of the new election code, presumably as it passed the General Assembly has reached the office of the county commissioners. In the main it corresponds to the present election code but there are a few changes.

The biggest change perhaps is the one requiring candidates in the primary to deposit a fee with their nomination petitions. This fee is not returned under any circumstances, even though the candidate withdraws and his name does not appear on the ballot.

The price runs from fifty cents to $50. If you want to be a candidate for president of the United States the fee is fifty dollars. The same fee is charged for any state wide office such as United States senator, governor, or any of the various offices for which the entire state votes.

To run for congress or for a county judgeship the fee is $35. For General Assembly, or for any county or city office, the fee is $25. For judge or inspector of elections the fee is fifty cents. Offices which pay no salary have no filing fee.

The one party restriction to candidates is in force in the code with the judgeships excepted. If you desire to run for sheriff, commissioner, city council or the like you must swear that you are a member of the party whose nomination you seek. For a judgeship you can file on as many tickets as you can get signers for.

The hours the polls are open are changed to read from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. instead of 7 to 7 as heretofore. This means that returns will not begin drifting in on election nights until about 10 o'clock and will strengthen the election alibi of husbands.

Until a printed copy of the signed act is received one cannot be sure that there have not been corrections and amendments.

The June term of criminal court starts today with the grand jury sitting. The probabilities are they will be in session until at least Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning. There are two matters that should come up before the grand jury but likely neither will. The replacement of the Harris bridge would probably come before the grand jury but if the state takes over the road it will also take over the bridge and obviate any necessity of county action.

The matter of more room in the court house should come up with particular reference to office room for the county commissioners. However it is necessary to prepare plans for any improvement that is proposed and it is impossible to get plans made for a commissioners' office in time for the grand jury.

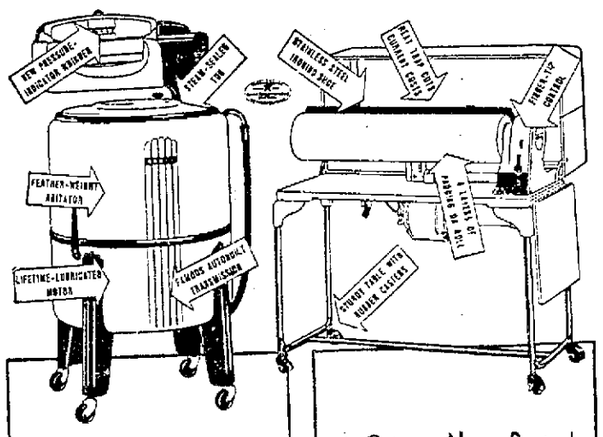

The permanent registration bureau office was clear of anybody but the paperhangers Saturday. The commissioners and the chief clerk of the registration commission performed their duties on the porch.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Since you folks have been so nice and trimmed your trees it has been suggested by some that you sort of check your sidewalks . . . some of them are in rather shabby condition and it makes it very difficult to walk along the streets . . . some folks you know are not as young as they used to be . . . it deserves a little consideration.

Are you forgetting that New Castle is the place to buy . . . you should buy all your household supplies right here in town . . . we have some of the best supply houses in this part of the United States . . . you think it's smart to say "Oh that came from Pittsburgh or Youngstown" . . . it is much smarter to say that came from a store right here in New Castle . . . come on you blooks should keep your money here in town.

This month starts the month of vacations . . . everyone is going hither and thither . . . making plans . . . well this is the last night for this column for a few days . . . for reasons better known to myself we are leaving on a little trip . . . from time to time you will hear from us . . . we hope . . . we hope it will interest you.

There's a little barn down the Wampum way that holds auction sales every Tuesday . . . well it's not so little at that . . . anyhow it holds auction sales for the farmers . . . everything is sold that you or I ever thought of . . . all kinds of farm products and equipment . . . they have everything . . . it has been going now over two years . . . a sale every week . . . never missing a week . . . that is a real record . . . another record it holds is the fact that it is the only business of its kind in these parts . . . it is operated by A. Phillips and his family . . . his daughters are the clerks and an auction clerk has a real job . . . try it sometime . . . sometime you have nothing to do . . . take a ride down the Wampum road and visit the Community sale . . . every Tuesday is sale day.

Giants Upset Pirates And Climb To Top

GIANTS HAVE HIT WINNING STRIDE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7—In much the same fashion that they won that National League pennant, the Giant's are rolling along again this year, and today hold down the lead by a matter of one game over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants beat the Pirates yesterday, with the aid of Carl Hubbell, and with that scored their 13th victory in their last 17 games—a feat reminiscent of their late season surge in 1936 when they made up lost ground with several winning sprees.

Have Hit Stride

The Giants didn't do too well at the start of the current campaign, but apparently have hit their stride now and then and seem to be in the race with the Pirates, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals to stay.

Schumacher pitched yesterday's victory—down to the last two outs, which Hubbell made after the game had been interrupted by a rainstorm. Schumacher might have been able to finish even without Hubbell's aid, although the former gradually was getting no better toward the close, despite the final outcome of 9 to 5.

The Cardinals won a double header beating the Philadelphia Phillies by 7 to 2 in the opener, on Lon Warneke's pitching, then being handed the nightcap as a gift on a forfeit from umpire Ziggy Sears. He charged the Phils with stalling in the third inning after the Cards had piled up an 8 to 2 advantage with the Sunday curfew law at Philadelphia drawing close.

Boston Splits

Tarzan Parmlee pitched the Cubs to their 10th win in their last 12 starts and gave them an even break with the Boston Bees, who had won the opener on the pitching of Guy Bush, the old Cub. The Bees won by 7 to 1 and lost by 7 to 2.

The Cincinnati Reds experienced virtually no trouble at all with the Dodgers, and won by 9 to 2, rapping out 16 hits off three hurlers including a home run Kampouris with the bases loaded.

The American League race was tightened up slightly by a Detroit Tigers 5 to 4 victory over the pace-setting Yankees. Tommy Bridges singling home the winning run in the ninth after stopping a Yankee uprising. The defeat broke Red Ruffing's string of four straight for the Yanks.

Indians Lose

The Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the ninth to tie the score but lost to the Washington Senators by 8 to 7 in the 10th, a second game was rained out.

The Boston Red Sox took the opener from the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 5, then lost the nightcap to Rookie Julio Bonetti, 3 to 2.

The Chicago White Sox moved up into the race by beating the Philadelphia Athletics in both ends of a double header, 6 to 1 and 6 to 5 for their 12th straight, leaving them in a virtual tie with the Indians for second place.

New Castle Red Sox Are Winners

The New Castle Red Sox baseball team formerly the Wilmington Sluggers defeated the House of Schmidts team at Lehigh Field Sunday 8 to 0 behind the great four-hit pitching of Bobolin who fanned three men. The Sox had eight hits off of Cooper and Stanley.

The game had to be called at the end of the fifth by rain.

Tonight the Red Sox go to New Wilmington for a game with the County League team. All players meet at 1204 Wilmington avenue at 5:15 o'clock.

Score by innings—	R.	H.	E.
Red Sox .....060 20—8	8	3
Schmidts .....400 00—4	4	1

Batteries—Red Sox, Bobolin and Jackson. Schmidts, Cooper, Stanley and Gray.

Pulaski-Mahoning Game Washed Out

The K. Pulaski-Mahoning A. A. City league game at the E. & A. Field on Sunday was washed out in the fourth inning by rain. The game will be re-played at a later date, it was announced by the league officials.

The Colored Elks and Lawrence Indies game was also washed out by rain.

War Admiral Is Belmont Winner

War Admiral Makes It Three In Row, Derby, Preakness And Belmont Stakes

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 7.—War Admiral, painfully injured on Saturday in running the Belmont stakes as they never before had been run, even by his ultra-distinguished sire, will be out of racing until the Saratoga meeting and perhaps for the remainder of the season, the writer learned from unimpeachable sources today. There was, it was said, even a possibility—remote but recognizable by examining veterinarians—that he might be finished with racing for life.

A thorough examination in the animal's stall at Belmont Park yesterday morning, when few were about, revealed a very deep gash in the colt's right forefoot. But what they really feared was infection. If that sets in, it was said, they would have to grow a new hoof, in which case the great son of a great father, Man O' War, would be through for the year.

Close To Record.

Meantime, everybody was still gabbling about the miracle of this horse race, in which the Admiral dug a divot out of his own foot right at the barrier; then ran a mile and a half to a race record of 2:28 3-5, shading his sire's time by a fifth-second. He was close to the track record. But they say he could have beaten it easily. He won by three lengths from Sceneshifter. But they say it could have been six.

He was eased up under Charley Kurtsinger's hands, after turning the mile in 1:37 and the derby distance, 1 1-4 miles, in 2:02 1-5, a second faster than his Kentucky Derby effort. Yet there was a trail of blood in the saddling ring after the race.

Only three horses—Sir Barton, Omaha and Gallant Fox—ever before had won the derby, Preakness and Belmont, but none could and did do it in the manner of this comparatively small but actually tremendous horse.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Harry Cooper and Horton Smith took first prize, $1,000, in the third annual Inverness best ball match play tourney at Toledo yesterday. They won because Tommy Armour missed by an inch a putt which he and Jimmie Thomson needed on the final hole of the 126 hole tournament to win.

Betty Jameson, San Antonio, won the eleventh annual Trans-Mississippi women's golf championship yesterday at San Antonio when she defeated Patty Berg of Minneapolis, 4 and 3.

The Giants have announced the purchase of Hank MacDonald, a right-hand hurler from the Pacific Coast league for their International league team at Jersey City. He formerly played with the Athletics and the Browns.

Eulace Peacock, Temple U, scored 3,030 points to win the National A. A. U. pentathlon championship at Jersey City. He won the running broad jump and 200 meter dash and finished second in the 500 meter run, javelin and discus throw events. Arkie Trento, last year's winner, did not compete.

Robert Riggs, 19, Los Angeles, won an all Pacific coast final yesterday at Hartford, Ct., in the concluding match of the New England tennis championships. He lost only one match to Walter Senior of San Francisco as he annexed the sectional title, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Donkey Baseball Game At Bessemer

Members Of Bessemer Baseball Team Will Stage Unique Game On Wednesday

Jim Martin of the Bessemer baseball team announced today that on Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock the Bessemer baseball team will play a Donkey Baseball Derby, something very amusing. The players will all ride donkeys during the game.

This is the first time that Bessemer has seen anything like this. In the event of good weather there should be a big crowd on hand.

The Bessemer team is leading the Slovak league in Youngstown and also the Lawrence county league. Yesterday in the Slovak league the Bessemers handed Campbell a 15 to 3 setback. Valentine featured the game by crashing out a homer with the bases choked.

Two Of Most Recently "Beaned" Big League Players Recovering

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 7.—"Very good and out of danger," was the report from Polyclinic Hospital this morning on the condition of outfielders Joe Moore and Fred Schulte, who were hit on the head by thrown balls in recent games at the Polo Grounds. Shulte, Pirate outfielder, was felled at the plate by a pitched ball in Saturday's game with the Giants. Moore, Giant mainstay, was struck by a ball thrown to second base a few days before.

He suffered a concussion and will not be able to leave the hospital for a few days, perhaps a week. Schulte, not injured as badly as was at first feared, probably will be released by the middle of the week, it was said.

This was the third head-injury suffered locally in recent games. Mickey Cochrane, Detroit's great player-manager, suffering a fractured skull at the Yankee Stadium during the last week of May.

Market Trading Is Quiet Today

Labor Situation Unsettles Market; Irregular Tendencies Appear

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 7.—The labor situation cast a restricting influence over the stock market today. Prices developed irregular tendencies after early firmness and trading was quiet.

Steels remained around previous closing levels, with small gains matching equally small losses. U. S. Steel opened down, moved up for a slight gain and then eased.

Motor shares showed a steady tone despite their new difficulties. Some of the merchandising issues strengthened with Macy a point higher.

Oils were mostly higher though Texas and Standard of New Jersey developed an easier tone toward noon. Gasoline price war in the Pittsburgh area had little influence.

Rails showed a steady undertone with most active issues up slightly. Union Pacific was an exception off over a point. A number of the utilities were down small fractions while rubbers were quiet. Coppers were somewhat higher as a group. Aviations were irregular. Allied Chemical rose 2 in its group.

Bonds showed a tendency to improve. Wheat was up in irregular commodity markets.

Winning Chorus Enjoys Banquet

PEP SINGING IS REALLY SOMETHING

There are banquets and banquets and most of them can be summed up with the same old words, "big crowd," "good time" and "delicious menu".

But on Saturday evening when the Welsh Mixed chorus of New Castle met in a tea party place not far from here they had a banquet event that was as far from ordinary as the north pole is from the south.

Not that the dinner itself was so unusual, although the chicken was the tops and the Angel Delecto was as nice as its name, but the pep singing was of a kind that you just don't hear except in very, very rare occasions. And the kind you don't forget.

Eisteddfod Winners

In explanation. This chorus, directed by Prof. David W. Rees and with Prof. Edwin Lewis as accompanist, is the very same that traveled to the annual eisteddfod in Warren, O., a few weeks ago, sung one number in the Welsh language and bowled them all over with the beauty of the thing. They came away first-place winners and Saturday night they spent the prize money on the banquet.

About thirty of them there were at the affair—every one a singer except the two special guests, Mrs. David Rees and Miss Janet Kissinger—and every one, including the two special guests, had a jolly old time. The tables were arranged in gala fashion and the place souvenirs were something quite different—corsages made from artificial roses and pretty handkerchiefs.

Griff Thomas, well known lay minister of New Castle, asked the blessing. The singing before the dinner and afterward was done without benefit of piano but it was perfect for a' that.

Gifts Are Presented

For their splendid work in directing and accompanying the chorus at the eisteddfod, Professors Rees and Lewis were presented with beautiful electric radio clocks. The presentation was made, in behalf of the chorus, by the committee chairman, Miss Gladys Lewis. Both men responded very graciously.

Serving with Miss Lewis on the committee, which deserves many compliments for its work, were Miss Melvina Davies. Mrs. David Owens and Mrs. Griff Lewis.

One of the big moments occurred when the chorus, in response to a request from one of the guests, sang the number that won for them the Warren prize.

Games were enjoyed later and the prizes went to Mrs. Sol Davies, Mrs. Griff Thomas, Mrs. Carl Turner and Profs. Rees and Lewis.

The Welsh mixed chorus is a new organization—the Warren festival was the first in which it has participated—but it is another example of the kind of musical talent we have in New Castle and they have in Wales. Along with the Choral society, the Male chorus, the tin mill singers and a few other groups, the Welsh Mixed chorus is something of which New Castle can be very proud.

TOO BAD!

A merchant was persuaded to buy a parrot. It had traveled far, and could jabber several languages. He ordered it to be sent home.

The same day his wife had ordered a chicken for dinner. On leaving she said to the cook: "Mary, there's a bird coming for dinner. Have it cooked for Mr. Mattingly when it gets home."

Unfortunately the parrot arrived first, and Mary followed instructions. Dinner was served.

"What's this?" asked Mr. Mattingly.

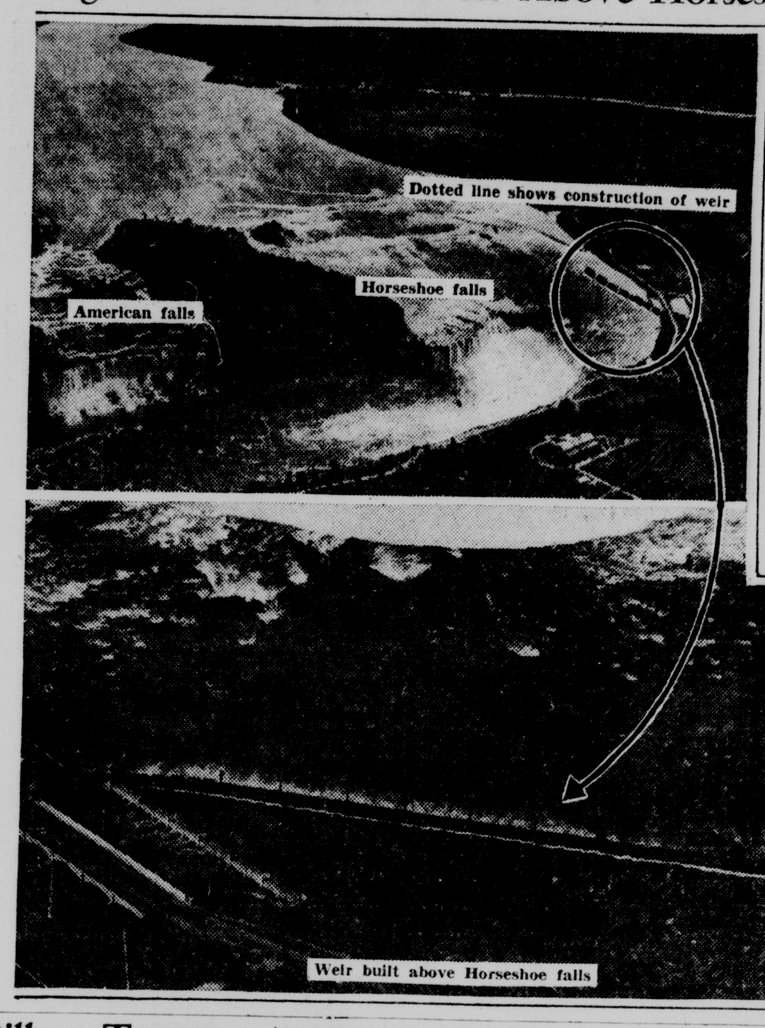

Mary told him.

"But for goodness' sake, Mary," he cried, "this is awful. That bird could speak three languages."

"Then why the dickens didn't he say something?" asked Mary.

After congratulations and best wishes had been extended by the group, the hours were kept occupied with games and contests of an amusing kind. At a seasonable hour a tasty lunch was served by Mrs. A. H. Long and Mrs. R. H. Kirk, teacher of the M. A. class.

Mr. and Mrs. Long were presented with an array of very nice and useful gifts for use in their new home.

League Honors At Stake Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—The leadership of the American Legion Junior baseball league will be at stake when the Merchants and Manos teams clash on Tuesday night at 6 p. m. at the Ewing Park diamond. Annual Banquet Grand Success

Mothers And Daughters Gather At Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—One of the most outstanding social events of Friday evening occurred at the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church, when members of the True Blue class, taught by Mrs. William Travis, entertained the mothers and daughters of the congregation at their annual banquet. The affair was a grand success in every detail.

The tables were beautifully decorated with fragrant spring flowers and a clever color scheme of orchid and yellow was carried out in the appointments. The 160 attending were served a most delicious dinner at 6:30 prepared by the hostess class and served by the men of the congregation.

A splendid program was presented and included: Invocation, Mrs. Thomas Berger; group singing led by Miss Frances Worrell, with Mrs. Earl Friday, as pianist; trumpet solo, Richard Wilson; toast to the daughters, Mrs. Harlan Gillespie; duet, Jack and Ann Butler; toast to the mothers, Miss Gladys Houk; reading, Mrs. John Wehman and a duet, Misses Sara and Jean Steele. Miss Grace Owens capably filled the role of toastmistress and introduced the numbers in a novel manner.

The highlight of the program was an excellent address by Mrs. Howard Magill, of New Castle, as the guest speaker. Mrs. Magill is well known to this group, being an active worker of Shenango Presbytery and the Lawrence County Sunday School association. Her subject was, "The Praying Mother," and she illustrated her points by Bible stories.

Mrs. Sophia Weingartner was presented with a lovely bouquet for having the honor of being the oldest mother in attendance. A bouquet for the youngest mother went to Mrs. George Brown.

The entire class deserve much credit for this successful event and extra praise should be given to the following committees: General, Mrs. William Travis, Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. Reid Welhausen; program, Mrs. Carl McGregor, Mrs. Norman Guy and Mrs. Paul Moon, and tables, Mrs. Herman Person, Mrs. Lenora McQuiston and Mrs. Earl Friday.

New Tension In Chicago Strike

Paymasters Demand Strikers Turn Over Employment Brass Checks

ZERO HOUR FOR EVACUATION NEAR

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 7—The tense situation around the Republican Steel Corporation's south Chicago plant, where seven men were killed during rioting last week, was heightened today when paymasters refused to pay strikers two weeks back pay unless the latter turned in their brass checks.

The brass check, which carries the payroll number of the worker, is surrendered only in case of dismissal of when a man quits his job, thus, strike leaders reasoned:

"This means the strikers are being fired for union activities—a clear violation of the Wagner labor relations act." While pickets swarmed outside the gates of the giant works, striking CIO workers lined up at temporary booths for their back salaries. When the cashiers inside the gates refused to hand out the envelopes until the brass checks were turned in the CIO men turned away and refused to accept their money.

In the meanwhile, the zero hour of Mayor Edward J. Kelly's order decreeing that the company clear its plant of the loyal workers housed within was waited. The city contended this situation violated the housing laws, but the company was expected to resort to court action in an effort to block the order.

The company, however, had made no such move only a few hours before they were expected to clear their works by 1:30 p. m. (E. S. T.). Mayor Kelly, in his order, indicated city police would be called upon to enforce the move if it was not done voluntarily.

There was a possibility the company might have a string of Pullman cars pulled within its grounds to house the workers. It was believed, however, that if an evacuation was decided upon a train would be shunted upon a plant siding to carry them off in order to avert a clash with pickets.

Louisville To Sell All Of Its Police Horses

No Longer See Need Of Mounted Police In City Of Louisville, Kentucky

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—No longer will the clop-clop of police horses' feet be heard on Louisville streets, because the city has gone "modern" and dispensed with the services of its 13 traffic steeds.

All but one—old Kelly, who was pensioned and will be cared for by the city and the police force in his already declining years.

The 13 big black horses, which were familiar sights in parades and during the rush traffic hours downtown, were sold at auction and brought nearly $2,000. This the city considered a fair price, since the horses had reached an aevrage of 11 years in age.

Old Kelly, whose age (according to whoever happens to make the guess) is "under 40 but over 20", was spared the fate of his comrades. After being purchased by a horse lover, who himself bid $50 to keep the animal from getting into the hands of a peddler, Old Kelly was redeemed by the city and told to "take it easy".

Argentine Road Program Keeps Up To Schedule

Large Sums Of Money Appropriated For Up-Keep Of Roads In Argentine

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina has spent 160,000,000 pesos ($53,500,000 at the official rate of exchange) on the construction of roads in the past four years and is well ahead of schedule on her vast ten-year program which calls for total expenditures of 300,000,000 pesos ($100,200,000). The annual report of the Argentine Roads Board revealed that 62,000,000 pesos ($20,800,000) was spent on highways during 1936, being an increase of 18,300,000 pesos ($6,200,000) over the previous year.

It was pointed out that Argentina's gasoline tax, which finances most of the road building, yielded the record sum of 50,000,000 pesos ($16,800,000) in 1936, thereby exceeding the estimate by one million pesos. A sharp rise in imports of motor cars—most from the United States—was responsible for a far greater consumption of gasoline than had been anticipated.

It was revealed by the roads board that the government has completed and handed over to public service highways representing an expenditure of 94,000,000 pesos ($31,500,000) since the ten-year program was instituted in 1933.

Plan To Instruct Women In Duties 'Goes On Rocks'

Movement To Teach Wives Business Efficiency In Home Is Failure

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Founders of "The Home Conservation Movement"—an organization to teach wives business efficiency in the home—today admitted their recently-launched project was "on the rocks."

The movement, which was expected to revolutionize the running of the American household, met a quick fate when wives, wise in the ways of labor, went on a "sit down" strike.

But here's the way it all began—

Every morning when the train pulled out of suburban Larchmont for New York, Samuel Sternefeld, a corset manufacturer, got to talking with his fellow-commuters about the expenses of running the home.

Fast Growing Organization

One daily discussion led to another, and as an outgrowth of it all they formed the Westchester Home Conservation Movement for the purpose of teaching their wives and servants a bit of efficiency. Membership began to grow, and Sternefeld was elected president.

Then things began to happen.

President Sternefeld ran into domestic manifesto. Swinging off the train, he arrived home one night to find the servants and friend wife on a "sit down."

"I could not get my dinner until I had arbitrated and promised to pay all the bills without question," Sternefeld apologetically explains, adding "The organization is a flop and I am getting out of it as president and as a member."

Morris Poley, a cotton goods wholesaler, and vice president of the economy league, also registers a guess that "things have gone awry," while Morton H. Adelson, secretary-treasurer, lone official holdout, declares:

"The wives think we are fooling but we are not."

Larch Valley Is Base Camp For Canadian Hikers

Sky Line Trail Hikers Of Canada Plan Hike This Year August 6-9

(International News Service)

LAKE LOUISE Alberta, June 4.—Larch Valley, a dozen miles by trail from Lake Louise and famous as the home of hundreds of varieties of wild-flowers, has been chosen as the base camp for the annual four-day trek of the Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies, from August 6 to 9, inclusive.

Peter Whyte, artist-president of the organization, will take charge of the series of daily excursions from the main camp, which will be pitched just west of Moraine Lake and still within the shadow of the famous Ten Peaks, each of which is over 10,000 feet high.

The hikers will sleep under canvas, as there is no permanent building in Larch Valley. But with beds of bough and plenty of blankets (sleeping-bags for those who have them) this will be no hardship. Each morning the company will explore one of the trails radiating out from the camp, including trips to Paradise Valley, Sentinel Pass, Wenchemna Pass, Consolation Valley and Taylor Lake.

Discovered In 1901

The Moraine Lake area owes to the late Tom Wilson its accessibility to Lake Louise. This famous guide, reputedly the first white man to behold Lake Louise, brought Miss Agnes Laut, the noted writer, from there to Moraine Lake in 1901 along a trail he had just cut. Its surrounding meadows are rich in Alpine flowers, and the high elevations offer the amateur photographer many chances for mountain and cloud effects.

The larch trees have given their names to this remarkable valley. They belong to the most beautiful of the conifer species, Lyall's larch, which resembles the eastern tamarack, but is restricted to the summit range of the Canadian Rockies. The larch rarely lives in altitudes below 6,000 feet nor above 7,600 feet. It has a rough bark, irregular but heavy branches and foliage of soft needles arranged in tufts like green bushes. Probably no other tree endures such stress of weather. Its buds burst in June and the needles are covered with ice and snow, sometimes well into August. Snow flies again in September, so that the larch's active growing period cannot exceed two or three months a year, and its trunk and branches are often curiously gnarled and twisted.

Rich Wildflower Crop

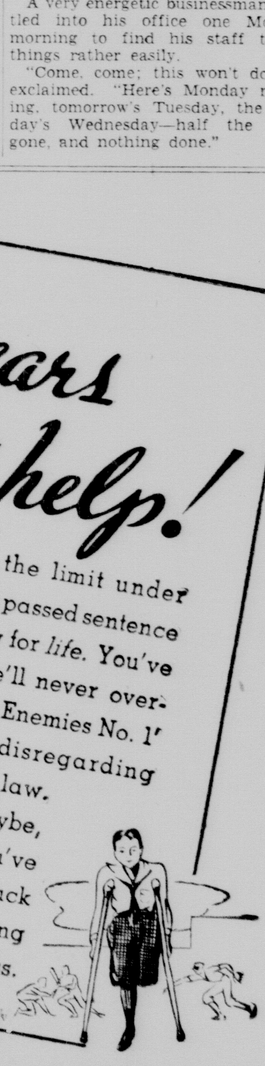

But the harsh snow conditions are responsible for the rich crop of wildflowers, since these have ample protection under the snow blanket. On a gentle slope, where the snow has melted in patches, flowers have been known to spring into full growth in a single day.

For those who wish to climb, the region offers scores of mountains many of them still unscaled. Among the more famous peaks within ready reach of Larch Valley are Mt. Fay (10,303 ft.), Mt. Tuzo (10,653 ft.), Mt. Detaform (11,235 ft.) Mt. Hungabee (11,457 ft.), Mt. Quadra (10,420 ft.) and Mt. Bident (10,119 ft.)

SPEEDY

A very energetic businessman bustled into his office one Monday morning to find his staff taking things rather easily.

"Come, come; this won't do," he exclaimed. "Here's Monday morning, tomorrow's Tuesday, the next day's Wednesday—half the week gone, and nothing done."

Two years won't help!

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Since you folks have been so nice and trimmed your trees it has been suggested by some that you sort of check your sidewalks . . . some of them are in rather shabby condition and it makes it very difficult to walk along the streets . . . some folks you know are not as young as they used to be . . . it deserves a little consideration.

Are you forgetting that New Castle is the place to buy . . . you should buy all your household supplies right here in town . . . we have some of the best supply houses in this part of the United States . . . you think it's smart to say "Oh that came from Pittsburgh or Youngstown" . . . it is much smarter to say that came from a store right here in New Castle . . . come on you blooks should keep your money here in town.

This month starts the month of vacations . . . everyone is going hither and thither . . . making plans . . . well this is the last night for this column for a few days . . . for reasons better known to myself we are leaving on a little trip . . . from time to time you will hear from us . . . we hope . . . we hope it will interest you.

There's a little barn down the Wampum way that holds auction sales every Tuesday . . . well it's not so little at that . . . anyhow it holds auction sales for the farmers . . . everything is sold that you or I ever thought of . . . all kinds of farm products and equipment . . . they have everything . . . it has been going now over two years . . . a sale every week . . . never missing a week . . . that is a real record . . . another record it holds is the fact that it is the only business of its kind in these parts . . . it is operated by A. Phillips and his family . . . his daughters are the clerks and an auction clerk has a real job . . . try it sometime . . . sometime you have nothing to do . . . take a ride down the Wampum road and visit the Community sale . . . every Tuesday is sale day.

Market Trading Is Quiet Today

Labor Situation Unsettles Market; Irregular Tendencies Appear

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 7.—The labor situation cast a restricting influence over the stock market today. Prices developed irregular tendencies after early firmness and trading was quiet.

Steels remained around previous closing levels, with small gains matching equally small losses. U. S. Steel opened down, moved up for a slight gain and then eased.

Motor shares showed a steady tone despite their new difficulities. Some of the merchandising issues strengthened with Macy a point higher.

Oils were mostly higher though Texas and Standard of New Jersey developed an easier tone toward noon. Gasoline price war in the Pittsburgh area had little influence.

Rails showed a steady undertone with most active issues up slightly. Union Pacific was an exception off over a point. A number of the utilities were down small fractions while rubbers were quiet. Coppers were somewhat higher as a group. Aviations were irregular. Allied Chemical rose 2 in its group.

Bonds showed a tendency to improve. Wheat was up in irregular commodity markets.

Winning Chorus Enjoys Banquet

PEP SINGING IS REALLY SOMETHING

There are banquets and banquets and most of them can be summed up with the same old words, "big crowd," "good time" and "delicious menu".

But on Saturday evening when the Welsh Mixed chorus of New Castle met in a tea party place not far from here they had a banquet event that was as far from ordinary as the north pole is from the south.

Not that the dinner itself was so unusual, although the chicken was the tops and the Angel Delecto was as nice as its name, but the pep singing was of a kind that you just don't hear except in very, very rare occasions. And the kind you don't forget.

Eisteddfod Winners

In explanation. This chorus, directed by Prof. David W. Rees and with Prof. Edwin Lewis as accompanist, is the very same that traveled to the annual eisteddfod in Warren, O., a few weeks ago, sung one number in the Welsh language and bowled them all over with the beauty of the thing. They came away first-place winners and Saturday night they spent the prize money on the banquet.

About thirty of them there were at the affair—every one a singer except the two special guests, Mrs. David Rees and Miss Janet Kissinger—and every one, including the two special guests, had a jolly old time. The tables were arranged in gala fashion and the place souvenirs were something quite different—corsages made from artificial roses and pretty handkerchiefs.

Griff Thomas, well known lay minister of New Castle, asked the blessing. The singing before the dinner and afterward was done without benefit of piano but it was perfect for a' that.

Gifts Are Presented

For their splendid work in directing and accompanying the chorus at the eisteddfod, Professors Rees and Lewis were presented with beautiful electric radio clocks. The presentation was made, in behalf of the chorus, by the committee chairman, Miss Gladys Lewis. Both men responded very graciously.

Serving with Miss Lewis on the committee, which deserves many compliments for its work, were Miss Melvina Davies, Mrs. David Owens and Mrs. Griff Lewis.

One of the big moments occurred when the chorus, in response to a request from one of the guests, sang the number that won for them the Warren prize.

Games were enjoyed later and the prizes went to Mrs. Sol Davies, Mrs. Griff Thomas, Mrs. Carl Turner and Profs. Rees and Lewis.

The Welsh mixed chorus is a new organization—the Warren festival was the first in which it has participated—but it is another example of the kind of musical talent we have in New Castle and they have in Wales. Along with the Choral society, the Male chorus, the tin mill singers and a few other groups, the Welsh Mixed chorus is something of which New Castle can be very proud.

TOO BAD!

A merchant was persuaded to buy a parrot. It had traveled far, and could jabber several languages. He ordered it to be sent home.

The same day his wife had ordered a chicken for dinner. On leaving she said to the cook: "Mary, there's a bird coming for dinner. Have it cooked for Mr. Mattingly when it gets home."

Unfortunately the parrot arrived first, and Mary followed instructions. Dinner was served.

"What's this?" asked Mr. Mattingly.

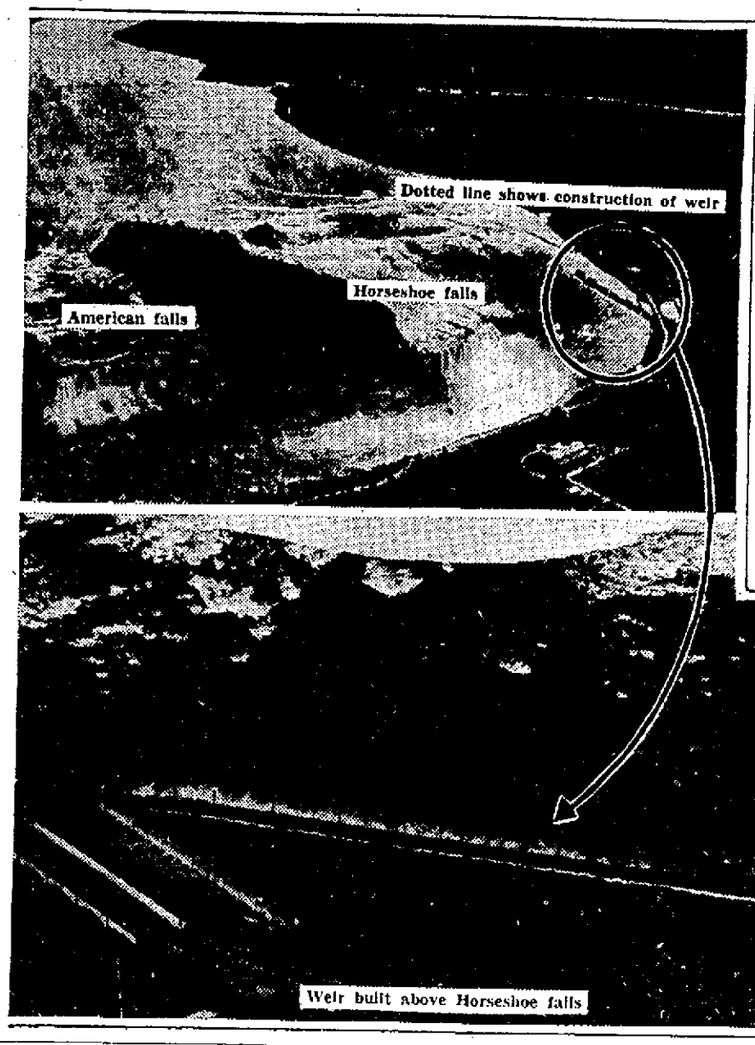

Mary told him.

"But for goodness' sake, Mary," he cried, "this is awful. That bird could speak three languages."

"Then why the dickens didn't he say something?" asked Mary.

New Tension In Chicago Strike

ZERO HOUR FOR EVACUATION NEAR

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 7—The tense situation around the Republican Steel Corporation's south Chicago plant, where seven men were killed during rioting last week, was heightened today when paymasters refused to pay strikers two weeks back pay unless the latter turned in their brass checks.

The brass check, which carries the payroll number of the worker, is surrendered only in case of dismissal of when a man quits his job, thus, strike leaders reasoned:

"This means the strikers are being fired for union activities—a clear violation of the Wagner labor relations act." While pickets swarmed outside the gates of the giant works, striking CIO workers lined up at temporary booths for their back salaries. When the cashiers inside the gates refused to hand out the envelopes until the brass checks were turned in the CIO men turned away and refused to accept their money.

In the meanwhile, the zero hour of Mayor Edward J. Kelly's order decreeing that the company clear its plant of the loyal workers housed within was waited. The city contended this situation violated the housing laws, but the company was expected to resort to court action in an effort to block the order.

The company, however, had made no such move only a few hours before they were expected to clear their works by 1:30 p. m. (E. S. T.). Mayor Kelly, in his order, indicated city police would be called upon to enforce the move if it was not done voluntarily.

There was a possibility the company might have a string of Pullman cars pulled within its grounds to house the workers. It was believed, however, that if an evacuation was decided upon a train would be shunted upon a plant siding to carry them off in order to avert a clash with pickets.

Louisville To Sell All Of Its Police Horses

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—No longer will the clop-clop of police horses' feet be heard on Louisville streets, because the city has gone "modern" and dispensed with the services of its 13 traffic steeds.

All but one—old Kelly, who was pensioned and will be cared for by the city and the police force in his already declining years.

The 13 big black horses, which were familiar sights in parades and during the rush traffic hours downtown, were sold at auction and brought nearly $2,000. This the city considered a fair price, since the horses had reached an aevrage of 11 years in age.

Old Kelly, whose age (according to whoever happens to make the guess) is "under 40 but over 20", was spared the fate of his comrades. After being purchased by a horse lover, who himself bid $50 to keep the animal from getting into the hands of a peddler, Old Kelly was redeemed by the city and told to "take it easy".

Argentine Road Program Keeps Up To Schedule

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina has spent 160,000,000 pesos ($53,500,000 at the official rate of exchange) on the construction of roads in the past four years and is well ahead of schedule on her vast ten-year program which calls for total expenditures of 300,000,000 pesos ($100,200,000). The annual report of the Argentine Roads Board revealed that 62,000,000 pesos ($20,800,000) was spent on highways during 1936, being an increase of 18,300,000 pesos ($6,200,000) over the previous year.

It was pointed out that Argentina's gasoline tax, which finances most of the road building, yielded the record sum of 50,000,000 pesos ($16,800,000) in 1936, thereby exceeding the estimate by one million pesos. A sharp rise in imports of motor cars—most from the United States—was responsible for a far greater consumption of gasoline than had been anticipated.

It was revealed by the roads board that the government has completed, and handed over to public service highways representing an expenditure of 94,000,000 pesos ($31,500,000) since the ten-year program was instituted in 1933.

Plan To Instruct Women In Duties 'Goes On Rocks'

Movement To Teach Wives Business Efficiency In Home Is Failure

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Founders of "The Home Conservation Movement"—an organization to teach wives business efficiency in the home—today admitted their recently-launched project was "on the rocks."

The movement, which was expected to revolutionize the running of the American household, met a quick fate when wives, wise in the ways of labor, went on a "sit down" strike.

But here's the way it all began—

Every morning when the train pulled out of suburban Larchmont for New York, Samuel Sternefeld, a corset manufacturer, got to talking with his fellow-commuters about the expenses of running the home.

Fast Growing Organization

One daily discussion led to another, and as an outgrowth of it all they formed the Westchester Home Conservation Movement for the purpose of teaching their wives and servants a bit of efficiency. Membership began to grow, and Sternefeld was elected president.

Then things began to happen.

President Sternefeld ran into domestic manifesto. Swinging off the train, he arrived home one night to find the servants and friend wife on a "sit down."

"I could not get my dinner until I had arbitrated and promised to pay all the bills without question," Sternefeld apologetically explains, adding "The organization is a flop and I am getting out of it as president and as a member."

Morris Poley, a cotton goods wholesaler, and vice president of the economy league, also registers a guess that "things have gone awry," while Morton H. Adelson, secretary-treasurer, lone official holdout, declares:

"The wives think we are fooling but we are not."

Larch Valley Is Base Camp For Canadian Hikers

(International News Service)

LAKE LOUISE Alberta, June 4.—Larch Valley, a dozen miles by trail from Lake Louise and famous as the home of hundreds of varieties of wild-flowers, has been chosen as the base camp for the annual four-day trek of the Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies, from August 6 to 9, inclusive.

Peter Whyte, artist-president of the organization, will take charge of the series of daily excursions from the main camp, which will be pitched just west of Moraine Lake and still within the shadow of the famous Ten Peaks, each of which is over 10,000 feet high.

The hikers will sleep under canvas, as there is no permanent building in Larch Valley. But with beds of bough and plenty of blankets (sleeping-bags for those who have them) this will be no hardship. Each morning the company will explore one of the trails radiating out from the camp, including trips to Paradise Valley, Sentinel Pass, Wenchemna Pass, Consolation Valley and Taylor Lake.

Discovered In 1901

The Moraine Lake area owes to the late Tom Wilson its accessibility to Lake Louise. This famous guide, reputedly the first white man to behold Lake Louise, brought Miss Agnes Laut, the noted writer, from there to Moraine Lake in 1901 along a trail he had just cut. Its surrounding meadows are rich in Alpine flowers, and the high elevations offer the amateur photographer many chances for mountain and cloud effects.

The larch trees have given their names to this remarkable valley. They belong to the most beautiful of the conifer species, Lyall's larch, which resembles the eastern tamarack, but is restricted to the summit range of the Canadian Rockies. The larch rarely lives in altitudes below 6,000 feet nor above 7,600 feet. It has a rough bark, irregular but heavy branches and foliage of soft needles arranged in tufts like green bushes. Probably no other tree endure such stress of weather. Its buds burst in June and the needles are covered with ice and snow, sometimes well into August. Snow flies again in September, so that the larch's active growing period cannot exceed two or three months a year, and its trunk and branches are often curiously gnarled and twisted.

Rich Wildflower Crop

But the harsh snow conditions are responsible for the rich crop of wildflowers, since these have ample protection under the snow blanket. On a gentle slope, where the snow has melted in patches, flowers have been known to spring into full growth in a single day.

For those who wish to climb, the region offers scores of mountains many of them still unscaled. Among the more famous peaks within ready reach of Larch Valley are Mt. Fay (10,303 ft.), Mt. Tuzo (10,653 ft.), Mt. Deltaform (11,235 ft.) Mt. Hungabee (11,457 ft.), Mt. Quadra (10,420 ft.) and Mt. Bident (10,119 ft.)

SPEEDY

A very energetic businessman bustled into his office one Monday morning to find his staff taking things rather easily.

"Come, come; this won't do," he exclaimed. "Here's Monday morning, tomorrow's Tuesday, the next day's Wednesday—half the week gone, and nothing done."

Two years won't help!

"I'M GIVING you the limit under the law. But you've passed sentence too—you've sentenced that boy for life. You've given him a handicap that he'll never overcome. Your kind are all 'Public Enemies No. 1'—Reckless—ruthless drivers, disregarding every warning, flaunting every law. Two years is too little." . . . Maybe, if you are a reckless driver, you've escaped so far. If so, it's more luck than good management. Avoid being in the Highway Public Enemy Class.
